The candidates are all hustling these days, making hay while the sun shines. It is not likely that many of them will pass the Sabbath thinking of matters entirely remote from politics.

Little donations have been made to the D. & R. G. employes' reading room by S. D. Reeve, late Union depot superintendent; Frank Pryor and J. S. Thompson, for which the boys are extremely grateful.

The many friends of Mrs. Sarah Brooks Berry will be grieved to learn of her death of quick consumption at the home of her father-in-law near Fosdick, Thursday night. Mrs. Berry was not yet twenty but died happy and willing to go. She leaves a sorrowing husband and a baby girl of two months. Funeral at Nyburg church Saturday afternoon.
