Smithsonian Institute's

Exploring Human Origins

What does it mean to be human?

A free interactive traveling exhibit

March 28-April 24, 2016, Rawling Library, InfoZone-4th floor

Educators Workshop on Teaching Human Evolution

Educator workshop: 1-4 p.m., Friday, April 8, 2016, Rawlings Library, Ryals Room-4th floor

To make a reservation for the workshop, call Maria Tucker at 553-0205 or visit www.pueblolibrary.org/infzoneevents

Dr. Briana Pobiner, who leads the Human Origins Program's education and outreach efforts, and Dr. Rick Potts, the exhibition curator and director of the NMNH Human Origins Program, will present a 3 hour workshop on human evolution for science educators in each community hosting the exhibition. The workshop is for classroom teachers; science, nature center, and museum educators; homeschoolers; and other local educators. It will feature exploration and hands-on practice in presenting the Human Origins Program resources provided for each community. These resources include a set of five early human skull casts; classroom-tested, high-school Biology teaching supplements on "What Does It Mean to Be Human?"; and a teacher resource on cultural and religious sensitivity strategies.
