writer, assisted by the Rev. Dewitt Talmage, the eminent divine. It is illustrated by 250 superb engravings from designs by Bida, Dore and other of the world's greatest artists. There are many magnificent allegorical plates, in brilliant colors, which are alone well worth the price of the book. Mrs. Mary S. Hutchinson is now in the city canvassing for this beautiful book, and we hope that our people will subscribe liberally and give her a good list in Pueblo. The book is comparatively cheap, and ought to find a place in every library and every home. When Mrs. Hutchinson calls on you examine her book and put your name down. The book needs no recommendation, and Mrs. Hutchinson is worthy of all aid you may give her.

There are undelivered messages at the Western Union office for Emma Bales, care Webster Brown; W. T. Jennings, Goodnow, Archibald Supply company, W. J. Hockham, Charles Gordon, Mrs. C. A. Halstead.

The north side schools will close to-morrow. Some special literary, declamatory, recitative, vocal, musical, oratorical and rhetorical exercises will mark the wind up of the school year.

A large riding party was out last night enjoying the moonlight and bracing evening air.
