Where is John Evans?

John Evans, who worked on a farm down the river near Vineland, came in town Decoration day, and has not been seen since and fears are entertained that he was drowned in the flood.

After getting a couple of dollars on a $36 pension voucher at L. E. Ross' saloon on south Union avenue Wednesday evening, he left his overcoat and started out on the street and it is feared that he stepped into a hole somewhere and was drowned.

Evans is described as a tall man, rather sparsely built and wears a light moustache. He is about fifty years of age and unmarried.

A Deserving Case.
