Pueblo unites in song

PUEBLO, Colo.— A variety of musical genres unite under Memorial Hall’s roof on Sunday, Oct. 20 at 4 p.m. All Pueblo Sings: Expressions of Soul is a free concert held in conjunction with the All Pueblo Reads project.

Blues, jazz and gospel performances are part of the lineup. The featured performers are Deidra Brooks, who was part of The Color Purple’s Broadway cast, and Pueblo’s Sankey family of New Hope Baptist Church. Other performers include Pat Pugh and Kennedy Pugh, Linda Buford, AC Love, Earl Robinson and Jackie Cesar-Stringer.

Pueblo’s brother and sister duo, Kennedy and Pat Pugh, are organizing the event and hoping for a large turnout.

“Kennedy and I are extremely excited to partner with the Pueblo City-County Library to bring this amazing array of talent to the stage for our community. It is a true reflection of Pueblo's unity, diversity and celebration of the arts,” said Pat.

For more information about this free concert, please call Susan Wolf at 553-0200.
