PCCLD remembers Robert Hoag Rawlings

Pueblo City-County Library District recently lost its greatest supporter, Mr. Robert Hoag Rawlings, who passed away on Friday, March 24 at the age of 92.

Rawlings clearly imagined the connection between newspapers, journalism, literacy and public libraries. He donated $4 million to redesign the library district's main branch at 100 E. Abriendo Ave.

Rawlings, who was very patriotic, donated funds to add a flagpole at the location. Thanks to funding from the Robert Hoag Rawlings Foundation, the InfoZone News Museum was created on the 4th floor of the library.

The 3rd floor houses the hard copies of the first edition of The Colorado Chieftain (1868) through The Pueblo Chieftain & Star Journal (1965), a gift from the Rawlings Foundation.

Rawlings strongly believed in the freedoms described in the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. Grants from the foundation paid for the installation of The First Amendment wall text that adorns the wall area above the atrium in the uppermost reaches of the Rawlings Library.

Additional funds from the foundation have been given to continue the library's digitization efforts of The Pueblo Chieftain.

Rawlings was a long-time supporter and financial contributor to the Friends of the Library. He was known by many for his personal notes of correspondence and will be deeply missed.

Robert Hoag Rawlings shares a laugh prior to entering the Robert Hoag Rawlings Public Library at the grand opening in 2004.

Rawlings smiles for the camera at the Annual Friends of the Library Meeting and Dinner in 2014.

The InfoZone News Museum located on the 4th floor of the Rawlings Library.

Rawlings says a few words at the flag raising ceremony held at Rawlings library in 2010.

Trustee talk

by Lyndell Gairaud

National Library Week is celebrated each year in April. Not National Library DAY, National Library WEEK! We have seven days to appreciate libraries in general and the Pueblo City-County Library District in particular. Here are seven ABC guidelines to recognize PCCLD.

A is for advocate. Voice your support for libraries and encourage others to do so.

B is for books. Read one, check one out, share one.

C is for communication. PCCLD has computers and computer access for your use.

D is for date. Make one with a friend or family

Friends of the Library Annual Meeting, Luncheon

RA, Ryals Room-4th floor

Cost: $20. To make a reservation, call Books Again at (719) 553-0340 by 4 p.m. Friday, April 14.

The Friends of the Library are hosting their Annual Meeting and Luncheon and all are invited to attend.

At the luncheon, learn about the Friends accomplishments over the past year and hear from guest speaker, Dr. Donna Souder Hodge. The Friends also will recognize Mary Simmons as the 2017 Friend of the Year.

Mary has served as a board member, treasurer and president of the Friends of the Library. As treasurer, she established an accurate and easy to understand method, through Quick Books, to keep the financial member to see a free movie at your library.

E is for everyone. Our doors are open to all in our community.

F is for fun. Join a book club or learning group and make new friends while having a great time.

G is for . . . goodness sake I've run out of words. But the library has not. PCCLD serves up words in books, CDs and DVDs. In e-books, audio books and large print books. In adult literacy programs, Books in the Park and the Homebound program. And don't forget Storytime.

It's nice to know there is a week in April dedicated to libraries. Keep that in mind but don't limit yourself to one week a year. The Pueblo City-County Library District is yours to celebrate and appreciate all year long.

records of the organization. She also was methodical in formulating a budget and adhering to it. All this created a strong financial footing and reporting system for the organization which has continued to the current time. As president of the Friends, Mary presided over the organization in a diligent way which assured that meetings, events and other functions were run smoothly and with great care.

Her dedication to the organization continues today, as she spends volunteer time at Books Again regularly. Mary is very conscientious in all she does and has been a wonderful asset to Friends of the Library, in the store, on the Board and as a member.

Mary and her husband Kent Couch have been married for 35 years and have three children. She has volunteered in Pueblo in many capacities: as a school volunteer, for Junior Achievement, as a pet therapist at CMHIP, for the Interfaith Hospitality Network, as an NAL judge, at her church and for the library. Her hobbies include running, hiking, reading, cooking and bridge.
