Celebrate Black History Month

Maya Angelou Chautauqua

Wednesday, Feb. 20, 7 p.m., RA, Ryals Room-4th floor

Hailed as a new kind of memoirist, Angelou was one of the first African-American women to publicly discuss her personal life. She was respected as a spokesperson for black people and women, and her work has been considered a defense of black culture and is taught in schools and universities worldwide. This living history portrayal, by actor and scholar Becky Stone, will give insight into how Dr. Angelou wrote, and why, and reflect on her philosophy of life, which included a strong belief in the power of words.

Award winning library

Jon Walker

by Jon Walker

2018 was a year of special recognitions for Pueblo City-County Library District (PCCLD). These include being voted as America's Best Public Library (<https://elgl.org/winner-of-the-2018-leslie-b-knope-award>), selection for the National Medal for Museum and Library Service (<https://www.imls.gov/issues/national-initiatives/national-medal-museum-and-library-service/2018-medals>), receiving the Colorado Library of the Year (<https://www.chieftain.com/c5a8e7b4-bbb3-11e8-aa41-271bfaf972e6.html>), and election as a Four Star Library (<https://www.libraryjournal.com/?detailStory=ljx181101StarsByNumbers>).

These awards, individually and collectively, are coveted by public libraries across the nation. All these designations together in a single year may be unprecedented and represent the highest honor for our community and each of those individuals who are dedicated to excellent public library service and the enduring values these represent.

In September, PCCLD was named Colorado's 2018 Library of the Year by the Colorado Association of Libraries.

We enjoy a tradition of high aspiration and achievement at PCCLD. Our goal in 2019 is to strive for excellence and build the foundation for a strong future for public library service.

Trustee Talk

Share the spirit of the month

Lyndell Gairaud

by Lyndell Gairaud

We have only just welcomed the new year of 2019 and here it is February, the month of love. What do you love? Who do you love? Why do you love? And why would a library Trustee ask these questions?

There are seven of us on the Pueblo City-County Library District Board of Trustees. We are volunteers who follow the regulations as laid out in Colorado Library Law. Yes, Colorado has library law. The primary role of the Board of Trustees is to fulfill, promote and perpetuate the mission of the district. We serve because we believe in the value of a vibrant system and because we love the library.

Do you want to know the history of Valentines Day? You can find a book for that. Would you like a menu for a special dinner for the ones you love? Cookbooks are available in the library. Would you like to make Valentine cards? Check out the craft classes at your local library branch. Want to show some love to a child in your life? Join us for story time. How about family movie times in the InfoZone?

The amazing staff of PCCLD branches love serving the population of our city and county. Our staff is friendly and knowledgeable and loves to meet and greet our patrons. So join them this February and share the spirit of the month.
