The Giodone Library in the St. Charles Mesa is scheduled to open in November.

Time to celebrate three new libraries!

by Jon Walker

Please join the upcoming festivities at each of our three new libraries when they open to the public. The Greenhorn Valley Library, located at 4801 Cibola Drive in Colorado City, will celebrate its public grand opening all day on Saturday, Nov. 15.

This will be followed with the commemoration of completion of the new Giodone Library, located at 24655 U.S. Hwy 50 E., all day on Saturday, Nov. 22. The third event will take place all day on Saturday, Dec. 13, with a party to mark the establishment of the new Lucero Library at 1315 E. 7th St. in Pueblo. This is a unique time in our community with three brand new public libraries opening for business within a one-month period. It is fair to say that this may never happen again. Be a part of history! Support reading, literacy and the value of free and Bring the family for a weekend of fun! See the new libraries, view an art show, make a craft, and participate in numerous other activities!

All Pueblo Reads 2014 The Paris Wife by Paula McLain

Simon Tearpack of El Pueblo History Museum makes a mixed drink at the Mixology program held there in October.

A large crowd enjoyed the All Pueblo Reads kickoff at a jazz concert performed by Denver-based band Swing Je T'aime at Rawlings Library.

The Madams of Southern Colorado performed to a full house at Rawlings Library in October. The ladies spoke about what it was like to be in their profession, how their health was managed and what became of them. The ladies are part of the Buena Vista Heritage Center.

Debra Connor portrayed Zelda Fitzgerald in two performances held at Rawlings Library in October. She also presented on the life of Scott Fitzgerald.

Libraries around the country encouraged to get Outside The Lines!

Pueblo City-County Library District participated in a bold, new campaign designed to reintroduce the library to the Pueblo community and get people thinking—and talking—about the library in a whole new way. Outside the Lines was a weeklong celebration, Sept. 14-20, demonstrating the creativity and innovation happening in libraries.

Kickoff weekend happened during Art Bash. Those in attendance had their photo taken in a children's book or picture frame. They also had the opportunity to tell a few of their favorite things about the library at a podium.

Check out the library's Facebook page, www.facebook.com/pueblolibrary to view photos from the event and look for a video soon at www.pueblolibrary.org/PCCLDvideos.

Trustee talk

by Donna Pickman

PCCLD provides a great return on investment.

When I became a member of the PCCLD Library Board in 2013, I studied the duties of trustees in the Colorado Public Library Board and Trustees Pocket Handbook. I found that this district's board is a governing board of trustees, having fiscal and legal responsibility for the control and management of the library. One of our main duties is to "secure adequate funding and practice responsible fiscal management of the public money." In other words, we have the oversight responsibility for the financial operations of the district. There are a number of policies and procedures which govern the operations of the district to ensure effective cash management, compliance with governmental accounting regulations and good business practice.

Each month the board is provided with detailed financial information, prepared by the finance office. At each meeting the chief financial officer presents this report. In carrying out our duties, we also contract to have an annual audit performed by a certified public accounting firm. This is a requirement of Colorado State Law. The audit this year gave us a clean report as has been our experience in the past. The Government Finance Officers Association has awarded a Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting to PCCLD for its Comprehensive Annual Financial Report for four straight years. The district also received the Distinguished Budget Presentation Award from GFOA for the 2012 and 2013 budget documents. The chief financial officer and her staff are to be commended on their efforts to consistently and accurately maintain the financial records of the district.

We are also responsible for all budgetary resolutions and approvals and for setting the mill levy annually. We are heavily reliant on taxes to support our operations. Taxes provided 91.7 percent of the district's total revenues in 2013. Additional sources of money include miscellaneous fees and gifts and earned interest. Program revenues cover only 5 percent of our operating expenses. This means that the taxpayers and the district's other general revenues fund 95 percent of our activities. As a result, the general economy and the changes in both residential and commercial property values have a major impact on the district's revenue streams.

The members of the board of trustees of the district are acutely aware of our fiduciary responsibility for your tax dollars. The mission of the district is to serve as a foundation for our community by offering welcoming, well equipped and maintained facilities, outstanding collections and well-trained employees who provide expert service encouraging the joy of reading, supporting lifelong learning and presenting access to information from around the world. To advance our mission, we continually monitor and evaluate the finances of PCCLD, to ensure we are expending our funds judiciously and in the best interest of our stakeholders; the patrons and taxpayers.

Friends of the Library president's corner

by Doreen Martinez

The Friends of the Library is proud to report that our Books by the Bag Sale held during the first week in October was successful. Thanks to the dedicated staff of Books Again who work so hard to prepare and host such a fun event for our community.

The Friends of the Library continues to work toward achieving a membership goal of 1,000 members in 2014. We are hosting membership booths at all new library openings to share the mission of the organization. We are looking for volunteers to staff these booths. If you are an interested member of Friends of the Library who would like to share the benefits of becoming a member with our community, please feel free to email FOLpueb@yahoo.com for a shift assignment.

Members of the Friends of the Library Board of Directors attended the Colorado Association of Libraries Awards Luncheon in October to accept the CAL Award for Library Advocate of the Year - 2014 on behalf of the Friends of the Library. It is an amazing honor to have received this recognition for all your Friends of the Library organization does to support PCCLD and the Pueblo community.

The submissions for the 2014 Creative Writing Contest have been judged, and the awards ceremony will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. at Rawlings Library, Ryals Room-4th floor.
