Charles Pace as Malcolm X.

Malcolm X portrayed by Charles Everett Pace
Monday, Feb. 3 at 6:30 p.m., Rawlings, InfoZone — 4th floor

Malcolm X (1925-1965), born Malcolm Little, was a Black Muslim minister and national spokesman for the Nation of Islam. After rising from an early life of drug abuse and petty crime, this respected yet controversial political figure confronts a personal moral crisis: his own human bigotry. His driving quest for knowledge, self-critique and conversion to Islam changes this ex-convict, into an internationally revered, though still controversial, spokesman for the cause of universal human rights. This Chautauqua performance features Charles Pace in a living history performance as Malcolm X.

Updating!

by Jon Walker

Libraries are changing. Just as the manner in which people obtain information is evolving, so, too, libraries are adjusting how we help ensure members of our community enjoy free and open access to information.

About a decade or longer ago, we began to see traditional reference books and periodicals replaced by computers and online resources. The latest in this transformation is the emergence in the recent few years of e-books, streaming video services, and wireless handheld devices.

These new forms of information delivery mean the physical library begins to look different. In years now gone by, for example, our libraries housed shelf-upon-shelf of volume-upon-volume of encyclopedias, directories, dictionaries, almanacs, indices, bound periodicals and newspapers, and so on. Now these are largely gone, replaced by row-after-row of computers and other information technology such as printers and copiers.

Today, the next generation of library permutations is emerging. PCCLD began this latest metamorphosis a couple of years ago when we made e-readers, laptops and iPads available for checkout. We have added 3-D printing.

We also have e-books as an option via OverDrive and Freading. You can now stream emusic and evideo courtesy of the library. Technology training classes are a regular part of what we offer.

In 2014, we are taking an important next step. Library design experts are working with us to renovate space on the 2nd floor at the Rawlings Library. This change is intended to position the library to be able to more fully utilize technology to better engage and encourage self-paced, lifelong learning. Individuals and groups can gather to study, exchange ideas, and collaborate using library makerspaces and tech bars. These will represent contemporary places in the library targeted to encourage self-initiated experimentation, tinkering, and participatory learning.

In February and March, the 2nd floor of the Rawlings Library will close for several weeks as we work with construction contractors and technology experts to begin to make these design concepts real. The renovation will include moving bookshelves and other exciting updates. Pardon our progress, but please look forward to a great new look and cutting-edge services coming soon!

More than two dozen youngsters and their parents joined Rawlings Library in January for a Preschool Dance Party. They danced to their hearts content shaking ribbons and maracas, while singing along to songs. Did you miss it? The next party is Saturday, Feb. 15 at 10:30 a.m. at Rawlings Library.

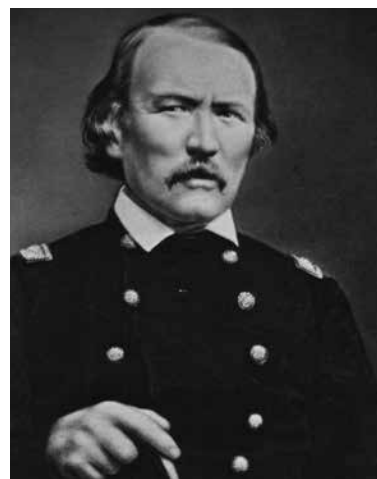

Friends of the Library Creative Writing Contest winners on Dec. 5. The photo from our January issue incorrectly identified the winners of the Scary Story contest.

Children enjoyed Playtime with Playdough day at Lamb branch in January. Playdough stations were set up so that the youngsters could spell out words, smell different flavors and add other items like pipe cleaners to the dough.

Thank you, Pueblo!

Trustee talk by Marlene R. Bregar

A new year has begun and it will be a busy and exciting time for the Pueblo City-County Library. I am honored to be a part of the Board of Trustees for PCCLD and look forward to the accomplishment of several goals during 2014. We are excited and energized as we look forward to the construction and opening of three new libraries in our District and the remodel of the 2nd floor at the Rawlings Library. We also look forward to the implementation of initiatives to expand customer service and material delivery.

The Pueblo City-County Library District Board of Trustees are appointed and ratified by a joint commission of the Pueblo County Commissioners and the Pueblo City Council. Board trustees are chosen from the residents within the City and County of Pueblo. Our current Board of Trustees is a wonderful group of volunteers from a variety of walks of life and each brings their unique perspective and talents to the board. The members of our current board reside in Colorado City, Pueblo West, the St. Charles Mesa and the city of Pueblo.

The Board meets twice a month. Work sessions are held the week before the regular session at 3 p.m. at the Rawlings Library. Work sessions provide an opportunity for board members to review matters requiring action and gives staff an opportunity to incorporate recommendations prior to action at the regular session. Formal action is not taken during work sessions. The second meeting of the month is our regular board meeting. Regular sessions are usually held the 4th Thursday of each month at 5:30 p.m. During our board meetings we receive reports and act on the essential business of the district.

I would encourage you to learn about your Board of Trustees. The PCCLD website, www.pueblolibrary.org, has a tab titled "About the Library." Inside that tab is a tab for the "Board of Trustees" and there you can find information relating to our meetings (dates, times, minutes), and overview of board duties and opportunities, and our bylaws and ethics statement. I would also encourage you to attend our work sessions and regular board meetings.

We look forward to the future of PCCLD and invite you to join us on this exciting journey.

The format allows presenters to display 20 slides for 20 seconds each — a presentation that lasts six minutes and 40 seconds. Presenters speak about various topics such as their travels, research projects, student projects, hobbies, collections or other interests. Meet creative people, promote yourself and most of all, have fun. For more information, call 553-0206.

Friends of the Library president's corner

by Mary Simmons Couch

The Friends of the Library rely heavily on our contingent of faithful volunteers. This month I wish to recognize a very important duo, Mary and Alan Linder. Mary and Al moved to Pueblo in 1990, when both retired from their teaching careers. Mary taught elementary school and Al retired from Idaho State University as a professor of zoology. Mary and Al have both been Friends' volunteers since 2001. Initially, they worked all year long on the annual Friends of the Library book sale at the college. After a brief hiatus, Al and Mary returned to the Friends as Books Again volunteers. You will find "team Linder" at the bookstore every Monday and Wednesday morning, Mary at the cash register and Al shelving inventory. Together, the Linders donate about 525 volunteer hours per year. Mary and Al state they enjoy Books Again for the opportunity to stay involved in our community. Thanks very much, Mary and Al, for your dedication.

Friends of the Library started the new year 2014 with 888 members. Membership chair Carol King notes this is a remarkable number, and reminds us that we still have several months to reach our goal of 1,000 members.

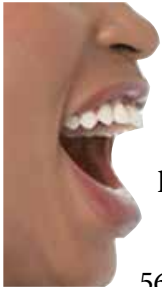

The Books Again Membership Appreciation sale is 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 15, 2014. Members shop the store at 50 percent off that day. Join the Friends that day. Also during the month of February, the Friends of the Library board will recognize our invaluable Books Again volunteers.

Looking for a book on the 2nd floor? Put it on hold!

2nd floor holds will be fulfilled as soon as possible and patrons will be contacted through the library notification system when their requests are available for pickup. DVD's and a small amount of other print and media items in the collection will be available to browse on the first floor of the Rawlings Library Public computers and devices for checkout (iPad and laptops) will be available for use on the 1st floor of the library.
