Kathryn Stockett

Reservations are required.

Kathryn Stockett's top-selling book The Help is this year's All Pueblo Reads literary project which centers around life in Jackson, Miss. during the civil rights era of the 60s. The goals of the project are to promote dialogue across social, cultural and generational lines.

Stockett will be making two appearances at the Rawlings Library: Nov. 9 for the Booklovers Blacktie Ball and Nov. 10 for a presentation and book signing. Tate Taylor, director of The Help film, was scheduled to attend but cancelled suddenly due to movie production scheduling conflicts. The Booklovers Blacktie Ball is a fundraiser to benefit the Pueblo Library Foundation and tickets include a gourmet dinner, open bar, presentation by Stockett and music to dance to by the Catfish Kray Blues Band. Deadline for registration is Nov. 4. Come dine and dance the night away!

Emmett Till

The Bloodiest of Battle Grounds: Emmett Till and Civil Rights in the South

Monday, Nov. 4 at 7 p.m.
Rawlings Library, InfoZone - 4th floor

Take a step back in history with professor Scott Gage, who'll discuss how the 1955 brutal murder of a 14-year-old boy in Money, Miss. and his subsequent open casket in Chicago galvanized the emerging civil rights movement.

Created Equal film discussion

Tuesday, Nov. 5 at 6:30 p.m.
Rawlings Library, InfoZone - 4th floor

A discussion of three films funded by NEH, Slavery by Another Name, The Loving Story and Freedom Riders, will be held at the Rawlings Library. These films tell a remarkable story about the importance of race in the making of American democracy, about the power of individuals to effect change, and about the historical contexts in which Americans have understood and struggled with ideas of freedom, equality and citizenship. Enjoy a light meal with the discussion.

Needle felting: Ornament making

Thursday, Nov. 7 at 7 p.m.
Rawlings Library
InfoZone - 4th floor

Learn the basics of needle felting from the Pueblo Handweaver's Guild. All materials will be provided to make a beautiful Christmas ornament. This class is free and for adults, but registration is required by accessing the event via the calendar at pueblolibrary.org, emailing susan.wolf@pueblolibrary.org or by calling 553-0220.

Adjusting to improve equates better service

by Jon Walker

We are making adjustments at the library district. This is nothing new. Libraries have always been evolving in order to better meet customer expectations for fast, friendly and effective service. But the current changes are unique to today.

Our library customers have seen several innovations in the past year. Leading the way are new stations for checking-out books and other library materials, and new ways for checking-in, too. These certainly have made their marks on the delivery of library service.

We made these modifications with a purpose in mind. The new check-out and check-in routines take less staff time, reduce the distance between staff and customers and eliminate waste in our delivery of service. A recent benchmark analysis shows how much the new processes have helped lessen the burden on staff resources and improve service performance. Several unnecessary steps involving a number of routine tasks have been eliminated. Among the results are better, more accurate and speedier services for customers, and less job monotony and improved ergonomics for staff. Importantly, we also have freed up staff time by embracing these leaner concepts and eliminating waste.

Streamlining operations and freeing staff resources is important for the library district's future. We will open three additional libraries later next year. Staffing for these new libraries will come in some large measure by reallocating some employees from one of the current libraries to one of the three new libraries. We would not have been able to afford to operate the new libraries without this shift in staffing.

Our goal is straightforward. We aim to provide the best possible public library service to our community. The additional libraries on Pueblo's East Side, on the St. Charles Mesa and in the Greenhorn Valley are an important part of our strategy. We certainly appreciate your continued support as we make the adjustments necessary to continue to improve and expand library services to best fulfill our mission.

ALL PUEBLO READS BRINGS COMMUNITY TOGETHER

Director of the Rosemount Museum Deb Darrow demonstrates the use of an antique floor sweeper that the Thatcher mansion servants had used around the early 19th century.

Singer, actor and entertainer extraordinaire Kennedy Pugh was the All Pueblo Sings music concert's master of ceremonies held at Pueblo Memorial Hall in October in support of All Pueblo Reads.

What's better than eating butter? Making your own butter and then sharing it with your friends. That's what these children got to do during a handmade butter program held at the Rawlings Library in October.

Actress Becky Stone portrayed the life of Harriet Tubman during a Voices of the Valley Chautauqua performance held at the Rawlings Library parking lot in October for the All Pueblo Reads kickoff weekend.

Chela Lujan puts on a show for All Pueblo Reads kickoff weekend held at the Rawlings Library parking lot in October.

Mary Oreskovich, owner of Hopscotch Bakery, demonstrates how to make the perfect pie crust at the Rawlings Library in October.

Chautauqua actor Fred Blanco reenacts a vast array of colorful characters that influenced the life and struggles of the civil rights activist Cesar Chavez.

Independent film

Clandestine Childhood (NR)
Saturday, Nov. 16 at 7 p.m.

In 1979, after years of exile, 12-year-old Juan and his family come back to Argentina under fake identities. Juan's parents and his uncle Beto are members of the Montoneros Organization, which is fighting against the Military Junta that rules the country. Because of their political activities they are being tracked down relentlessly, and the threat of capture and even death is constant. However, Juan's daily life is also full of warmth and humor, and he quickly and easily integrates into his new environment. His friends at school and the girl he has a gigantic crush on, Maria, know him as Ernesto, a name he must not forget, since his family's survival is at stake. Juan accepts this and follows all of his parents' rules until one day he is told that they need to move again immediately, and leave his friends and Maria behind without an explanation. Argentina in Spanish (with English subtitles).

Special screening

Naz Bah Ei Bije Heart of a Warrior (NR)
Wednesday, Nov. 13 at 6:30 p.m.

Naz Bah Ei Bije Heart of a Warrior is based on the life of Navajo code talker Sam Sandoval — one of a small band of warriors who created an unbreakable code from the ancient language of their people and changed the course of modern history. Known as Navajo Code Talkers, they were young Navajo men who transmitted secret communications on the battlefields of WWII. At a time when America's best cryptographers were falling short, these modest shepherders and farmers were able to fashion the most ingenious and successful code in military history.

Bridging Cultures movie

Islamic Art: Mirror of the Invisible World
Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 6:30 p.m.

As part of the Bridging Cultures: Muslim Journeys partnership with CSU-Pueblo we will be showing Islamic Art: Mirror of the Invisible World. This ninety-minute film takes audiences on an epic journey across nine countries and over 1,400 years of history. It explores the richness of Islamic art in objects big and small, from great ornamented palaces and the play of light in monumental mosques to the exquisite beauty of ceramics, carved boxes, paintings and metal work. It revels in the use of color and finds commonalities in a shared artistic heritage with the West and East. The film also examines the unique ways in which Islamic art turns calligraphy and the written word into masterpieces and develops water into an expressive, useful art form.

Barkman book discussion

Monday, Nov. 4 at 7 p.m.
The Walk by Richard Paul Evans

What would you do if you lost everything — your job, your home, and the love of your life — all at the same time? When it happens to Seattle ad executive Alan Christoffersen, he's tempted by his darkest thoughts. A bottle of pills in his hand and nothing left to live for, he plans to end his misery. Instead, he decides to take a walk. But not any ordinary walk. Taking with him only the barest of essentials, Al leaves behind all that he's known and heads for the farthest point on his map: Key West, Florida. The people he encounters along the way, and the lessons they share with him, will save his life — and inspire yours.

Just Animals art show

Friends of the Library president's corner

by Mary Simmons Couch

The Friends of the Library rely heavily on our contingent of faithful volunteers. This month I wish to recognize a most valuable volunteer Eileen Arnot. Eileen began volunteering at Books Again in April, 2011 soon after retiring as a registered nurse. Eileen volunteers every Monday as our "Monday manager." In addition, Eileen is our children's specialist; she organizes our children's section into categories by topic, age group and award winners. This gargantuan effort makes our children's section very user friendly; thank you Eileen! Eileen coordinated our highly successful book give away at the State Fair Children's Day parade, giving a free book to all young parade attendees. Their mothers were most appreciative! In addition, on behalf of the Friends, Eileen sends books from our excess donations to 4th graders at a Navajo school in southwestern New Mexico. The teacher is most appreciative! As are we, Eileen! We appreciate you, and are grateful for all your efforts. Eileen also enjoys volunteering at the Pueblo Zoo, participating in a stitchers' group, and traveling with her husband, Bill, who is also an integral Books Again volunteer. Thanks to you both, Eileen and Bill!

Our membership chair, Carol King, reports that Friends of the Library memberships totaled 846 as of Oct. 1. Please remember that a membership is an important way you can support our library system! Help us reach our goal of 1,000 members by giving your friend a Friends' membership for the holidays!

The Friends of the Library will sponsor the Creative Writing Contest during November. We look forward to judging entries submitted by students in grades 3-12!
