Library annual report

by Jon Walker

PCCLD issues a yearly comprehensive report, which may be characterized as providing an overall health assessment of public library services in the county. I recently delivered the library's 2011 Annual Report to the Pueblo County Commissioners and the Pueblo City Council. It is a good news story that I would like to overview now for you.

In 2011, the library was fully focused on its mission, which is to encourage literacy and the joy of reading, offer continuing opportunities for lifelong learning, and provide free and open access to information. The staff's adopted motto, which engages with this mission, is: "Ideas, Imagination & Information." The vision for PCCLD includes books but also goes beyond such traditional library materials to include other forms of information media, like access to the Internet and digital information.

The library staff in 2011 worked consistently to implement services under these guiding principles. This started at the top with the library's leadership, including the members of the PCCLD Board of Trustees: Sherri Baca, Marlene Bregar, Rhonda Gonzales, Dr. Philip Mancha, Roy Miltner, Fredrick Quintana and Jim Stuart.

Governed by these principles and this leadership, PCCLD accomplished a great deal in 2011. Some of our firsts for the year included establishing the Centers for New Information Technology (www.pueblolibrary.org/technology), the Pueblo Library Foundation (<http://www.pueblolibrary.org/foundation>), and the Adult Literacy Program (www.pueblolibrary.org/adultliteracyprogram).

In addition, the library continued to offer its award-winning public programming and events. These included signature events such as the Summer Reading Club (www.pueblolibrary.org/summerreading), All Pueblo Reads (www.pueblolibrary.org/allpuebloreads), the Voices of the Valley Chautauqua, and Read Out Loud! In total, 91,692 people participated in library-sponsored programs and events throughout the district in 2011. The library's information delivery services also continued to excel in 2011. 405,359 logged-on library computer systems during the year. 1,130,546 visited libraries in the county in 2011. 1,759,499 books and other library materials were checked out from the library in the twelve month period.

It is important also to applaud our Friends. The PCCLD Friends of the Library have contributed much to library service in the county over the years, and 2011 was another banner year in this regard. Under the leadership of Annette Warfield (President), Michael Voute (Vice President), Brenda Fickey (Secretary), and Mary Simmons (Treasurer), the Friends of the Library generated more than $111,000 in revenues in 2011, all of which ultimately benefits public library services throughout the county.

2011 was a great year for PCCLD (see http://www.pueblolibrary.org/sites/default/files/2011\_PCCLD\_Annual\_Report\_audited.pdf to review the entire 2011 Annual Report), and now we remain hard at work to keep the positive momentum going in 2012. Our ultimate goal is simple: we aim to provide the best public library service in the nation. Our community deserves nothing less.

All Pueblo READS special events

Bob Sakata: American Farmer

Tuesday, Oct. 2 at 7 p.m.
Rawlings Library, InfoZone - 4th floor

Author Daniel Blegen will present an illustrated talk on Bob Sakata, whose family owned and operated Sakata Farms near Brighton, Colorado, for many years. Bob Sakata was born near San Francisco, California in 1926. As a teenager in 1941, he was among the 120,000 Japanese Americans relocated to internment camps during World War II. He overcame poverty, prejudice, and personal hardship to become a successful and innovative farmer.

Woody Guthrie

Hard Travelin': Woody Guthrie's Life & Songs

Saturday, Oct. 6 at Noon
Rawlings Library, InfoZone - 4th floor

Woody Guthrie was the Oklahoma balladeer whose simple but evocative songs have enriched the American musical repertoire. Roaming the country in the 1930s, Woody connected with America's working poor and dignified their lives in song. His signature tune, "This Land Is Your Land," emerged again as a rallying cry during the Civil Rights Movement of the 1960s. This year (2012) is Woody Guthrie's centennial year, a great time to hear the life story of this humble singer songwriter. In Hard Travelin', historian Daniel Blegen discusses Woody's life and sings his songs. This unique, one-hour lecture/mini-concert includes Woody's Dust Bowl ballads, his songs of the West, and his tributes to America's farmers, factory workers and service men. Included are a dozen tunes, including Hard Travelin', Roll On Columbia, Union Maid, Sinking of the Reuben James, So Long It's Been Good to Know Ya, and, of course, This Land Is Your Land. Refreshments will be provided.

Speaker Glenn Morris

Sunday, Oct. 7 at 2 p.m.
Rawlings Library, Ryals Room - 4th floor

Glenn Morris (Shawnee) has been a member of the Leadership Council of the American Indian Movement of Colorado for the past twenty years. He is a tenured professor of political science at the University of Colorado at Denver, where he directs the Fourth World Center for the Study of Indigenous Law and Politics. He is an internationally renowned expert on the rights of indigenous peoples, and has been active at the United Nations, advancing the rights of indigenous peoples since 1985.

The Haunted Windchimes

Friday, Oct. 12 at 7:30 p.m.
Rawlings Library - 2nd floor

Get to know The Haunted Windchimes a little better as they play their favorite original songs and discuss the inspiration behind them. This concert is free and open to the public.

Plains Women: An Afternoon with Homesteading Women of Colorado

Saturday, Oct. 13 at 10 a.m.
Rawlings Library - InfoZone

Did you know that in 1910, one in every five homestead claims filed in Eastern Colorado were filed by women? Young and single, widowed or divorced, alone or with families and friends, thousands of women flocked to claim land on the eastern plains. Why they came, what they experienced, how they succeeded—these are just some of the questions Colorado Humanities scholar Rebecca Atkinson attempts to answer in her documentary, Homesteading Women of the Colorado Prairies. Following the 50-minute film, stay for refreshments and discussion, both of Atkinson's research and film, as well as Kent Haruf's and other western writers' portrayals of these women as characters in their novels. The Tie that Binds is Haruf's haunting story of one woman's harrowing life on a Colorado homestead.

Rawlings Library, Ryals Room - 4th floor

Pueblo filmmakers Tim Sparks (Sparks Bros. Media) and David Hartkop (Solar Roast Coffee) invite you to join them for a screening of their in-progress feature film Recursion. The film is a sci-fi zombie/horror movie set in Pueblo in the year 2024. The action follows a small group of survivors who fight to stay human after an organic computer virus has transformed humanity into a race of networked zombies. This event features the unveiling of the film's official movie trailer, production props and artwork developed for the film, and a chance to meet some of the local talent who appear on screen. Dub-step dancing encouraged, refreshments will be served!

Independent Movie

Seven Minutes in Heaven

In Hebrew with English subtitles.

Saturday, Oct. 27 at 7 p.m.

Rawlings Library

InfoZone Theatre - 4th floor

Galia, a young woman from Jerusalem, and her boyfriend Oren board a local bus. The bus explodes, leaving Oren in a coma and Galia with severe burns and memory loss; she lacks memory of the day of the terrorist attack and the days leading up to it. The film begins one year after the attack, upon Oren's death.

As Galia undergoes therapy, she attempts to stitch together the shattered fragments of her life and soul. A necklace sent to her from an unidentified source sends her on a journey to solve the mystery of that fateful day.

Book Connections: Orphan Train by Earleen Cornell

Tuesday, Oct. 23 at 7 p.m.
Rawlings Library
Ryals Room - 4th floor

Earleen Cornell, wife of Orphan Train survivor Stan Cornell, has captured the story of the journey that Stan and his brother, Victor, took starting in the 1920s. She shares her story with us and discusses her book. Storyteller Jane Milne will accompany her and perform the story as well. Do children of today know what the Orphan Train represented? This was a time in U.S. history from the mid 1800s to the 1930s. Listen to this tale of hardship, heartbreak and triumph of young children, told from the perspective of Puebloan Stan Cornell, who traveled this road with his younger brother, Victor. You simply must hear this story's ending!

GED classes at Rawlings Library

PCCLD's Adult Literacy Program has partnered with South Central BOCES to bring GED classes to the Rawlings Library. These classes are taught by a certified instructor and help participants prepare for all sections of the GED test. The next eight-week session begins Oct. 29 and meets Monday-Thursday from 9:30-11:30 a.m. at the Rawlings Library. There is a $45 charge for registration. Space is limited, so register now by calling 553-0206.

Make a difference! Teach someone to read!

Pueblo City-County Library District is seeking volunteer tutors to help adult learners with limited literacy skills improve their reading and writing. Following orientation, volunteer tutors meet at a library with an adult learner twice a week for one to two hours and spend about two hours each week preparing. Tutoring schedules are flexible and are individually set by each tutor-learner pair. No previous teaching experience is required.

Learn to read @ your library

Pueblo City-County Library District's Adult Literacy Program serves native English speakers and English language learners who want to improve their reading, spelling, writing, and comprehension skills. Offerings include one-to-one tutoring, GED classes, and a collection of books and instructional materials designed for adults of all skill levels.

Danny Quintana: Stories of Hispanic Migration

Friday, Oct. 19 at 1 p.m.
Rawlings Library, Ryals Room - 4th floor

It is appropriate that Pueblo be the location to talk about the stories of Hispanic migration after World War II. All of the little villages in northern New Mexico and southern Colorado emptied out after the war. The young men wanting to start families moved to where there was work, many to Pueblo to work at CF&I, Pueblo Army Depot and other places of opportunity. This book is everyone's story. It tells the story of many journeys from the small farms of the San Luis Valley and beyond, to a life out of poverty. Hispanic children have assimilated into American society and like other ethnic groups that came to America, the land of promise and hope, are melting into history. Presented by Danny Quintana, author of Caught in the Middle, Stories of Hispanic Migration and Solutions to America's Immigration Dilemma.

The History of Farming in Colorado: One Family's Experience

Come meet Orville, the patriarch of the family, who could pose as one of the weathered McPherson brothers; John and Michelle, the anchors of the family; and David, the future, not only for the family, but for farm life in Colorado. Learn how farming has changed throughout the years from this first-hand perspective. Refreshments will be served.

The Archaeology of Amache, Colorado's Japanese Internment Camp

Monday, Oct. 22 at 6:30 p.m.
Rawlings Library, InfoZone

Archaeology is a valuable tool for better understanding shadowed histories, like the internment of Japanese-Americans during World War II. Since 2006, the University of Denver Amache Project has been engaged in archaeological research at Colorado's camp Amache, which was the state's tenth largest city during World War II. Not only is archaeology revealing new insights about camp life, through this research, DU researchers have become part of the community engaged in remembering and preserving this nationally significant site.

Friends of the Library president's corner

by P. Michael Vout

Recently, I read that libraries in the city of Chicago were designated as "safe havens" during the teachers' strike there. Having worked in that city for eleven years and being aware of its crime statistics, I can well imagine this was a wise decision.

Here in Pueblo, we are blessed with a safer community climate. Yet, there is something to be said for libraries as "safe havens." Safe, in the sense of being less exposed to the mediocrity and banality of electronic communication gadgetry, much of which is increasingly occupying the time and attention of the younger generation.

We, at the Friends of the Pueblo Library District, support the intellectual and enriching programs and the stress on literacy, both in the form of reading and of writing, which our libraries offer.

We do so financially, as volunteers, and as participants in events, such as the "All Pueblo Reads" series of events, which will have started on September 28, and last a full month.

At its most recent meeting, the board of the Friends committed to support the Pueblo Library Foundation with $ 50,000 in funds over a five-year period, including $ 10,000 already donated earlier this year. The board designated these funds to help defray the costs of acquiring a site for the planned new East Side Library.

Finally, do not miss the semi-annual book sale at "Books Again," to be held October 5 and 6, with Friends' members getting an early stab at bargains on the 4th.

Dewey Profile featuring C.S. Lewis

by Jeannine Semrau

Fall [027] is the beginning for many things—such as the first day of school—and proof that reading and using the library all summer helps one read better in the fall. Our city has benefited greatly from our public libraries, and as I reflect, (which is quite a lot when one reaches my age) it's time to get some things done and over, including weeding! Summer weeding. Now sweeping and raking and clean-up begins another fall activity. This day, with the wind whispering an inkling of fall and Roger Williams, playing Autumn Leaves [780], I was clearing the house after summer company went home, and weeding—yes, weeding—my library collection.

I looked at books that shaped my life for example, The Screwtape Letters by C.S. Lewis [230]. Many children remember him still for his Tales of Narnia. Also, I remember The Goops, a cautionary tale which was the adult way of teaching manners to children. "The goops they lick their fingers, the goops they lick their knives, they wipe their hands on table cloths and tell ungodly lies." Also the book What do you say Dear? This was a picture book about manners. For example, what if a big dragon approached you and said, "Do you want me to eat you up?" "What do you say dear?" "No, thank you." And now, children are not only learning their manners, but also the manners and languages [400] of many countries.

As a child I was aware of...not much. I thought the 600s in the Dewey Decimal system was horses, like King of the Wind, The Black Stallion, all Marguerite Henry's horse books and Terhune's great collie dog stories. Later, to my chagrin, I learned it also meant carpentry, electronics, gardening, composting, cooking, parenting and housekeeping.

Thank goodness there was music. There was always music. Playing an instrument, learning about composers and their lives, and can you believe opera? Opera was on the radio on Saturdays, and, I believe it still is.

Then, as I was aged and educated, I learned more and more history. Remember H.G. Wells', History of the World? You've probably read Wells', War of the Worlds. Wells was a famous author who wrote about history and also the future, through his science fiction tales. I was always interested in books and literature [800] at an early age, not only when they were written but also who wrote them and why. The 900s being, of course, geography and history. The more I learned, the more I learned to appreciate. So, loaded with the folk tales, geography, history and love, I began to travel, and to appreciate—no to crave it! So here I am, the bottom line—I did not discard or weed any of my books although it was a wonderful trip.

Camp Amache: The Story of an American Tragedy with producer/authors
Don & Sandy Dexter

Thursday, Oct. 25 at 7 p.m.
Rawlings Library, InfoZone - 4th floor

In 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed Executive Order 9066, which forced more than 110,000 Japanese-Americans, and people of Japanese ancestry, living on the west coast to move to 10 internment camps. One of the camps, called Camp Amache, was located in southeastern Colorado. This is a story of survival of more than 7,000 people who lost everything and were unjustly interned by the United States government. Don Dexter is an Emmy-winning director/producer and his wife Sandy Dexter is a local author who wrote the screenplay for the Camp Amache documentary.
