July 16 is a date that will no doubt be marked by many Harry Potter fans. It's the release date of the latest installment of this children's book phenomenon that's cast its spell on the entire planet.

I Love the Library

By Jon Walker

I have a confession to make. I love this place! Don't you? I mean what's not to love?

The public library as an institution is one of the pillars supporting our wonderful democracy. It stands as a beacon offering free and open access to the human record in all its formats - books, audio, video, online.

Libraries represent all points of view - left, right and the middle - and regardless of your age, financial means or standing in the community, we serve you.

There are six principals I believe are important for keeping our library moving forward and reaching toward the next level.

First, we must articulate succinctly what the public library is and its value to our community. I touched on this value above.

Second is delivering excellent service. Service is priority one. The Library is a service organization. Service! with a capital "S" and an exclamation point. Every day in everything we do - from the back office to the front line - I encourage employees to ask "How does this benefit the customer?"

Third is a commitment to building and maintaining outstanding collections. After all, if service is what makes us, it's the collection that sets us apart. Our role is linking the patron to the collection - that book, this video, a web site, just the right audio CD.

Fourth, the library is a place, a physical place - a comfortable place to read, study, and to gather to exchange ideas.

Fifth is our online presence. Libraries are service, libraries are collections, libraries are place; but in the modern era we also must be virtual, electronic, online. People expect to be able to click on the library from their home or school or office.

Sixth - not last but in this spot only for emphasis - we are people. The employees of the Library District, are our most valuable and valued asset.

Well, this is a little bit about what I think about libraries. What about you? What do you think?

Jon Walker is the Pueblo City-County Library District's Executive Director. He welcomes your comments and can be reached (719) 562-5633.

Rawlings Library Meeting Rooms

By Kathy Knox

In a constantly busy and technology-driven world, it is increasingly important for people to be able to share physical space, to come together to meet, communicate ideas, explore new concepts, plan events, learn new things, and celebrate the good moments in life!

And what better place to meet than the centrally located Robert Hoag Rawlings Public Library, with its spacious rooms and open atmosphere?

Libraries are progressively fulfilling the role of community centers or hubs for urban areas. In response to this trend, the Rawlings Library has three rooms available for public use.

In one year, use of the rooms has grown by more than 40 percent. The word is getting out! Numerous nonprofit, private and government organizations meet at the library.

The Thurston Room on the first floor of the library is 530 square feet and holds 20 people with a table and chair set-up. The room holds 35 with chairs only. Light refreshments are allowed. This room is free to non-profit organizations hosting an event open to the public. It costs $25 per event for profit organizations or a non-profit organization event which is closed to the public.

The largest space, Meeting Room B, is also located on the first floor just beyond the Customer Service desk. The meeting room is 2,130 square feet and holds 80 people with tables and chairs. With chairs only, 140 can be accommodated. Light refreshments are allowed. Like the Thurston Room, there is no charge to non-profit organizations hosting open meetings. For profit organizations or a non-profit organization with a closed event, it costs $50.

The Ryals Special Events Room is located on the 4th floor and has balconies offering spectacular views of Pueblo. This 2,518 square foot room is quickly becoming a popular choice for parties, reunions, weddings, and business meetings.

It seats about 170 with banquet tables and chairs. Catering is welcome and there is a catering kitchen equipped with warming ovens, a refrigerator, a triple sink, and an ice maker.

The cost is $250, Monday through Thursday, and $300, Friday through Sunday. The Ryals Room requires security for events.

Please contact Marilyn Baillargeon at 553-0227 for further details on our meeting space.

Equipment available for use includes dry erase boards, an overhead projector, TV/VCR, stereo system and podium with speakers and a microphone.

For light refreshments, Java by the Book coffee shop is located on the first floor of the Rawlings Library and may be contacted by calling 553-0212.

Kathy Knox is the Rawlings Library Manager and can be reached at 719-562-5627.

Fast Food Nation: The Dark Side of the All-American Meal
by Eric Schlosser

July 11, 2005 - 7:00 p.m.
Barkman Library

Fast food has hastened the malling of our landscape, widened the chasm between rich and poor, fueled an epidemic of obesity, and propelled American cultural imperialism abroad. That's a lengthy list of charges, but here Eric Schlosser makes them stick with an artful mix of first-rate reportage, wry wit, and careful reasoning.

Book discussions are open to the public, and everyone is welcome to attend.

Saturday, July 16

Robert Hoag Rawlings Library

Fourth Floor

100 E. Abriendo Avenue

Wilby Island is just a few minutes by ferry from the mainland, but where a local Islander is concerned it might as well be years away from the fast-lane living of the mainland. Recently a scandal has rocked the town and it is only days before the details are to be published in the local paper, bringing shame and scorn to all involved.

The Independent Film Series offerings are not rated. The films ordinarily portray adult situations, including some mature language and violence and are not recommended for those younger than 17 without parental permission.

This movie will be shown free to the public. Seating is limited and is on a first come, first served basis. After the screening take in the views of the city from one of the Library balconies while enjoying free refreshments provided by Java By the Book. Friends of the Library President's Corner By Jane Milne

"There are no great things, only small things, done with love." Mother Teresa

I wanted to update you, our friends and members, on several things that have involved the Friends of the Library recently.

These are some of the ways your membership dollars are being used.

We once again gave well-deserved certificates to the Most Improved Readers in school districts 60 and 70. As Friends, we are doing our part to encourage children to become better readers.

We purchased four, 16" globes that have been placed at Rawlings, Barkman, Lamb, and White libraries. None of the libraries have had a globe prior to this time.

A new component the Friends are adding into the mix is a new opportunity for library employees.

We will be offering a $3,000 scholarship to any district employee who wishes to earn a Masters in Library Science.

This is intended to cover tuition and books for the fall, winter, and spring term in 2005-2006.

If interested, please contact the Human Resources office at 562-5632.

New Friends of the Library Members:

Dr. & Mrs. John J. Boucek
Beauty Brown
Andy & Michelle Conrad

Thank you for your membership!

The Barkman, Lamb, Rawlings & White libraries will be closed Monday, July 4th for Independence Day.

Please Pass the Dictionary By Edna Shoaf

Praise be for the dictionary - you certainly need to peruse that tome right now.

Look up gentleman, gracious, honest, kind, generous, integrity, and so on and so forth.

Then search for Roy Miltner.

You might not find those last two words, but I hope you get the picture because Roy is all of that and much more.

This hardworking vice president of the Friends Board is serving his second, three-year term on the Board, and, unfortunately for us, he will go off the Board in May of 2006.

Many of you already know Roy because he is chairman of the Programs Committee for the Board. He is the person responsible for all those great presentations including Santas of Many Nations, Elderhostel, and that superb performance at our last annual meeting in April when Barbara Daubenspeck did her marvelous one-woman show "A Portrait of Molly Brown."

Roy grew up in New Jersey, but he came to Pueblo from Iowa, where he had been a Lutheran Pastor for forty years.

He is still active in his church, and in addition to his duties on the Friends Board, he volunteers three days a week at the Air Museum and is also a docent at El Pueblo Museum.

He has volunteered to work at the Friends book store, which is due to open this summer, and he can also be found giving many hours to the Friends annual book sale in the fall. As anyone knows who has helped work the fall sale, Roy is a great organizer.

Roy joined the Friends Board because he and his lovely bride of 41 years, Freda, had recently moved here, and he wanted to become involved in community activities since he was now retired.

Roy and Freda have two sons and two grandchildren. They had lived in Colorado Springs before, but they found it too congested and chose to move to Pueblo, much to the delight of the Friends.

Roy stated that he feels the Board is a hard-working Board with no slackers.

That is certainly a description of Roy - not a slacker.

The Friends Board is fortunate to have Roy, and we greatly appreciate him.
