We are very proud at the Pueblo City-County Library District (PCCLD). We are proud that in 2006 we were selected by residents as the best public service in the county according to the Denver-based polling firm Ciruli Associates.

We are proud that in 2006 the Hennen American Public Library Rating ranked PCCLD in the top 24% of libraries in the United States.

We are proud that for the last two years PCCLD has been selected as the top summer reading program in the state by the Colorado Association of Libraries. We are so proud that we want to tell others around the nation of our accomplishments and the great things PCCLD is doing.

This is why it is pleasing to see that PCCLD librarians are being invited to represent our accomplishments at national library conferences. Richard Tucey (grantwriter and special collections librarian) recently was selected to be a presenter at the Library Information and Technology Association (LITA) conference in October 2007. Richard will be presenting on the topic of our groundbreaking use of Geographic Information Systems (GIS) to assist with recent PCCLD decision making and marketing.

Later, in March 2008, Michael Cox, the teen services librarian, has been invited to present at the Public Library Association (PLA) Conference. Michael will be co-presenting with a colleague from Illinois on the topic of the relevance of adolescent brain development studies in providing guidance on teen readers' advisory interviews, troubleshooting difficult and easily misunderstood requests, and interacting with teens not excited about books. At that same conference, Sara Erickson (human resources manager), Noreen Riffe (special collections supervising librarian), and I will jointly present on strategies and techniques for building a winning library workplace.

It is wonderful to be able to share Pueblo's library accomplishments with others. Both LITA and PLA Conferences are prestigious gatherings of professional librarians literally from around the world. Both conferences will attract thousands of attendees. In fact, the last PLA Conference attracted more than 10,000 people.

So, watch out USA as Pueblo librarians toot our horns!

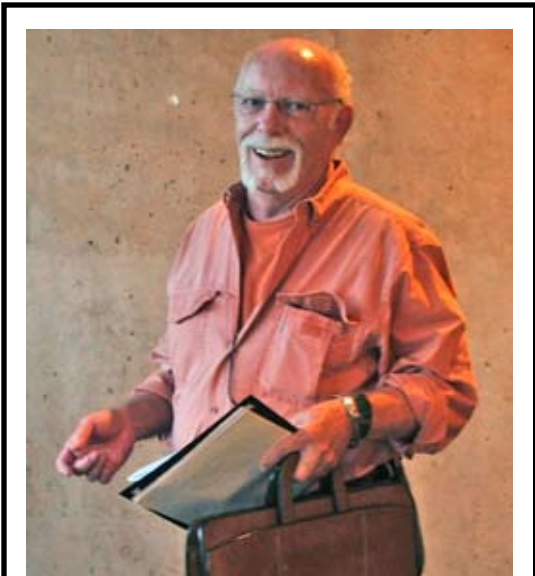

Jon Walker is the Pueblo City-County Library District's executive director and may be reached by calling (719) 562-5633.

The Friends of the Library Annual Meeting and Murder Mystery Dinner

More than 100 people showed up for a night out with their "friends" on April 28. Local theatre troupe, The Impossible Players, entertained the audience with a murder mystery performance that left everyone guessing, just who would kill a famous author and why?

In addition to the evening's great entertainment, a new set of officers was also installed. Jim Stuart is the new president, Barbara Tuttoilmondo is now vice president, Marilyn Kristan is the secretary and Erik Duran is treasurer.

Thanks to outgoing board members Margaret Benz, Sandra Cunningham, Jeanne Gardner, Ernie Herzberger, Douglas and Rose Marie Knight for their outstanding service to the library. They will be missed.

Outgoing president of the Friends of the Library, Jeanne Gardner, passes incoming president, Jim Stuart, the ceremonial gavel at the Friends' Annual Meeting and Dinner.

Outgoing board members of the Friends of the Library are honored for their service at the Friends' Annual Meeting and Dinner.

Incoming Friends of the Library Board President Jim Stuart emceed the fine evening of fun, food and Friends.

Rawlings Public Library
100 E. Abriendo

Safe Driving is an 8-hour classroom refresher course for experienced motorists age 50 and older. The program, which was developed by AARP, addresses the physical changes that can affect driving ability and behavior and ways to compensate for those changes. The curriculum also is designed to remind drivers of skills and techniques they once learned but perhaps fail to use regularly, and to update drivers on the rules of the road.

SAFE DRIVING teaches drivers about the normal, age-related changes that interfere with vision, hearing, and physical strength that typically influence driving ability and attitudes, and the impact of medications when driving. Certified AARP instructors will teach the class.

Colorado rewards safe drivers with automobile insurance savings. Insurance companies have varying requirements. There will be a $10 charge for the booklet and a three-year certification of attendance.

Registration is free and limited to 20. Call 562-5606 to register.

DONATIONS TO BOOKS AGAIN

The primary mission of Books Again is to support the goals of the Friends of the Pueblo Library by selling donated books which are in good condition to readers in Southern Colorado. We are not a library, nor are we a depository of historic materials. We appreciate the donations which are given to us because we could not function without those gifts. However:

We cannot sell books that have broken or missing spines, missing pages, are heavily underlined or highlighted, water-damaged, greasy, dirty or in otherwise bad condition.

We do not accept magazines which are over two years old. We have more National Geographics than we know what to do with.

We do not accept Reader's Digest Condensed Books

We do not accept encyclopedia sets which are more than five years old.

Personal items, such as letters, scrapbooks, photographs, toys, puzzles, stuffed animals, puppets, etc. should be donated to the Rawlings library.

We reserve the right to refuse or discard donations which we cannot sell.

We are not able to pick up donations at your home.

If these guidelines are unclear, please call 543-4688 for more information.

Friends of the Library President's Corner by Jim Stuart

A fun time was had by all, except maybe the corpse. The almost 100 Friends of the Library that attended our Annual Meeting and Dinner in the Ryals Room had a blast trying to figure out who murdered the plagiarizing writer who was the guest of honor. The murder mystery cast of ten kept us all guessing right up to the last minute as to who did the dastardly deed and rid the world of the egocentric authoress. Frankly, when we arranged for this program I wasn't sure what the reaction of our attendees would be, so I was very happy to see that almost everyone had a fun time and really got into the spirit of the event and dug for clues that would uncover the culprit. I particularly want to thank Marilyn Kristan, Lois Pfof and Barbara Tuttoilmondo for all their help in putting on the dinner and program.

A big part of the special evening was a heartfelt and special thank you to six of our board members, Margaret Benz, Sandra Cunningham, Jeanne Gardner, Ernie Herzberger, Doug Knight and Rose Marie Knight, who are retiring from the board. These folks put in hundreds of hours of devoted work to our causes and will be sorely missed on our board. However, just like all the members of the Friends, you don't have to be on the Board to judge Library Contests or help as a volunteer at our wonderful used bookstore Books Again. So, we expect to continue to see these ex-board members filling key needs of our organization. Thanks so much to all of you for your continued service.

Odds and ends from here and there by Edna Shoaf

Ahhhh, the lovely days of June with grass growing, bees buzzing, flowers blooming and birds singing - makes one want to lie on the grass and count the stars overhead or try to see pictures in the clouds. Or of course, if it is raining, then one could always stay in bed with a good book (from Books Again), a box of crackers and a plate of cheese and apple slices. Yummy! Either one sounds good to me.

I do hope that most of you were able to attend the Side Door Sale at Books Again last month. We had tons of beautiful books all arranged neatly on the shelves along the wall and in the middle of the room. No more stepping over boxes of books on the floor or crawling around on the floor to paw through those boxes. By the way, that room where the sale was held is the sorting room and storage room for the books which are donated to our store. Those of you who are regular customers will recognize that a wall now separates that sorting area from the rest of the large back area, which is now open to the public with many more books from which to choose. We hope that these changes will make your shopping much more pleasant.

The Friends of the Library still needs volunteers for the Board and also to do some work at Books Again. We now have all the fiction on the shelves, beginning in the back room with the authors beginning with A, extending along the side of the back room, and ending up on the back wall of the front room. Wheee! What a job that was! And they are alphabetized also! Pin a rose on all those who labored mightily to complete that tremendous task! We also have moved the non-fiction to their permanent home (unless, of course, EriK or Melanie decides they would look better somewhere else. It is just incredible how one or the other will stand back, hands on hips, survey the room, and see exactly where this or that should go.) The rest of us just nod and get busy. I was the one who moved all the crafts and hobbies and then sorted them into categories such as knitting, painting, crochet, quilting, etc. Come join us and we will even feed you a sandwich, chips, pickles and something to drink at lunchtime! What a bargain!

A gentle reminder to the library staff - next month is July, and the requests for funding will be due. I will be picking up all requests that have been turned in to Books Again on July 10. Our committee will be meeting soon afterwards to disperse funds. All branch libraries may submit requests as well as the Rawlings staff. Our committee meets twice a year in January and July; however, if something rather urgent comes up in between those times, we would be glad to call an extra meeting to consider the request.

Stay out of the sun, now, as much as you can. Slather on that sun screen, especially on little noses that are going to Books in the Park. And always remember these profound words of wisdom - Bakers trade bread recipes on a knead to know basis!
