Sangre de Cristo Collection on Death, Dying and Grieving by Jon Walker

The Pueblo City-County Library District is very happy to announce a new service to our community that will kick-off later this month. The library district, in collaboration with Sangre de Cristo Hospice & Palliative Care, will unveil a special collection of materials on death, dying and grieving. The collection will be available on the second floor of the Rawlings Library. We are honored to provide these books, DVDs and more to the members of our community. Coping with death and loss is among the most important times of life, and this collection will feature authors and experts to help individuals better understand and deal with this.

The Sangre de Cristo Hospice & Palliative Care non-profit donated all of the materials in the collection. In addition, members of their staff have agreed to present a series of programs at the library on matters of importance to individuals dealing with death, dying and grieving. These programs will include topics such as children and bereavement, hospice care and coping with loss.

It is the hope of the library district that in offering this special collection of materials and programs in partnership with Sangre de Cristo Hospice & Palliative Care, that individuals of all ages and backgrounds will have more assistance in dealing with death, dying and grieving.

For more information on this new opportunity, please contact Carol Rooney, managing librarian for Rawlings Library reference and readers advisory services, at 562-5624.

You can reach Pueblo City-County Library District's Executive Director, Jon Walker, by calling 562-5633 or emailing jon.walker@pueblolibrary.org

Barkman book-discussion group

November selection

Half-broke Horses by Jeannette Walls

Monday, Nov. 7 at 7 p.m.

Barkman Library

For the first 10 years of her life, Lily Casey Smith, the narrator of this true-life novel by her granddaughter, Jeannette Walls, lived in a dirt dugout in west Texas. Walls writes in what she recalls as Lily's plainspoken voice, whose recital provides plenty of drama and suspense as she ricochets from one challenge to another.

December selection

Any holiday story

Monday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m.

Barkman Library

Help us prepare for the holiday season by sharing your favorite holiday story. The December book selection will be any holiday story. This book Sunday will also have a pot-luck dinner! For more information on the book Sunday group, please call 562-5680.

Boo-vie film of the month series

Breakfast at Tiffany's (NR)

Saturday, Nov. 12 at 3:45 p.m.

Rawlings Library, InfoZone Theatre - 4th floor

Co-hosted by Parkview Spirit of Women and PCCLD, a "boo-vie" is a book that has been turned into a movie. This series will cover a wide range of films, from Eat Pray Love to Jane Eyre to Confessions of a Shopaholic. The common theme in each of these films is that each is based on a book. Please join the Parkview Spirit of Women program in the InfoZone each month for this exciting new series. For more information, call 562-5604.

Independent movie

If I Want to Whistle, I Whistle (NR)

Drama-Romania

Romanian with English subtitles

Saturday, Nov. 19 at 7 p.m.

Rawlings Library

InfoZone Theatre - 4th floor

Silviu has two weeks before his release from a hostile juvenile detention center. When his mother, who abandoned him long ago, returns to take his younger brother away, those two weeks become an eternity. While his cries for help fall on deaf ears, he finds himself harassed by the other inmates. Just as his frustration evolves into aggression, he is introduced to a beautiful social worker that he can only dream of being close to. Faced with many emotions, he is driven to a surprise act of defiance as he makes a last grasp for freedom.

Rawlings Library, InfoZone Theatre - 4th floor

Longtime state and federal volunteer, Susan Craig, will give a presentation on Loggerhead Shrikes. Craig has had many adventures in banding the Loggerhead Shrike in Colorado and Texas. After she became interested in studying Shrikes, she learned how difficult it was to safely capture, band and release these birds. Not only did Craig develop and construct her own traps, she also developed her own safe handling methods; safety for the birds, the live mouse lure and the woman doing the banding too.

Susan has published several papers regarding longevity, nesting density, reproductive success, special behaviors and migration. She will share her insights into the lives of these amazing birds gained during the course of 18 years of study.

Introduction to finding funders

Tuesday, Nov. 15 from 11 a.m.-noon
Rawlings Library, Training Room - 3rd floor

Learn to find funders for your nonprofit with the Foundation Center's comprehensive funding research tool. This session provides an introduction to the Foundation Center's comprehensive online database, Foundation Directory Online Professional. Learn how to create customized searches to develop targeted lists of foundations that will match your organization's funding needs. This presentation will spend time exploring Power Search, which allows for the ability to search across nine Foundation Center databases: grantmakers, grants, companies, 90s, news, jobs, RFPs, nonprofit literature, and PubHub reports. This is a free training and is open to the public. Reservations are recommended. Please call 562-5626 to make a reservation.

Art exhibition featuring Jan Oliver

Nov. 1-Dec. 31

Pueblo West Library, Vectra Art Gallery

Jan Oliver is a self-taught artist who began painting in the fall of 2003. Oliver describes her work as a fusion of traditional folk art and Mexican muralism. Her work has a strong Mexican influence along with certain elements of German folk art. Both influences are a part of her cultural history.

Oliver's mission is to "unite people of faith through art in a shared commitment to foster peace, love and social justice in the world." She is "strongly committed to acting as a good shepard of the environment and to all those creatures with which we share our world." For more information on this exhibit, please call 562-5660.

Trustee Talk by Roy Miltner

Having recently come to the end of my first year on the Pueblo City-County Library District Board of Trustees, I reflected on what I learned during that time. Some insights came from simply being in and around the several libraries—Rawlings and the satellites—and speaking with staff, volunteers and patrons. Other information came while in attendance at the board's monthly work sessions and meetings. The times of the library-board meetings, by the way, are posted in each library and are open to the public.

Several impressions stay with me. The first is the vitality and forward-thinking library staff. Change is not an occasional happening, but a constant, as the staff seeks out new and better ways to serve the public and stay on the very leading edge of the curve with efficient and labor-saving practices. It is perhaps the fact that I am somewhat "technologically challenged" that I am so awed by the present and proposed public offerings such as e-books and iPads, and the planned for, new electronic checkout procedures. Undoubtedly, the recent citation of Pueblo as one of the best cities for readers is due to this culture of progress by our library leadership and their diligence and hard work.

The second impression is how fortunate we are as citizens to have such a large number of library locations in our city and county. Our last work session was held at Craver Middle School in Colorado City. There, a part-time staff person makes the small public library's satellite available to citizens in the southern part of the county. Other such locations include Avondale Elementary, Beulah School of Natural Sciences, Cesar Chavez, North and South Mesa elementaries, Risley Middle School, Rye Elementary and Vineland Elementary—in addition to the four full-time, stand-alone libraries in Pueblo and Pueblo West.

The third impression is how far beyond being just a reader's service our library district truly is. The special programs for adults, teens and children, which occur with regularity throughout the year, is awesome. A perusal of the events planned for this year's All Pueblo Reads alone must convince the reader that PCCLD seeks to broaden and deepen the knowledge and skills of the whole community. Books in the Park, the annual summer reading program, Books Again Bookstore (run by volunteers of the Friends of the Library), InfoZone Museum with its cinematic offerings and frequent educational programs are but a few other examples of how diverse the output of the library district is.

Can you tell that I consider it a privilege to serve as a trustee?

Grief and loss during the holidays

Saturday, Nov. 5 at 1:30 p.m.
Lamb Library

Saturday, Nov. 16 at 4 p.m.
Pueblo West, Gay and Lesbian Fund for Colorado Room

The holidays can be a rough time for many. This time of year may be a painful reminder of those that are no longer here. Hospice representatives will be on hand for each of these programs to give tips on how to grieve during this time. Refreshments will be provided. This event is free and open to the public. For more information on these events, please call the Lamb Library at 562-5670 or the Pueblo West Library at 562-5660.

FOL President's Corner

by Annette Warfield

Congratulations to PCCLD for the successful month of programs and activities for All Pueblo Reads. A highlight of All Pueblo Reads was a visit to our community by author Carl Hiaasen. The Booklovers Blacktie Ball was an elegant evening and enjoyed by all who attended. Not only was FOL a major sponsor of All Pueblo Reads, but also funded 22 students, chosen by their teachers, to attend the Blacktie Ball. Students attending were accompanied by a parent or teacher, also guests of FOL. October was a month of programs and events which will be remembered by many.

October is always a busy month for Books Again as well. The Books-by-the-Bag Sale did very well for the store bringing in a little more than $4,400. Volunteers estimated more than 640 bags were filled during the three-day sale. All remaining books were picked up by the Pueblo County Jail. Thank you to all the volunteers who work so diligently preparing for this sale and also regrouping at the conclusion of the sale. Thanks, also, to all of our patrons who support these sales.

FOL continues its search for a Books Again manager. With the departure of Melanie Tappen, this position is still available. Surely there is an FOL member out there who would enjoy being a manager at this enterprising, exciting business. For a period of time, Connie Converse and Melanie Tappen acted as co-managers of the book store. Two people sharing this job is also a possibility. Anyone interested should contact the book store to discuss the details. A training period would come before the actual acceptance of the duties. This is a position which would prove to be very rewarding and fun.

While I'm on the subject of volunteers, I would like to ask all FOL members to think about placing your name on a list of volunteers to be called upon for special events. For example, a list of people willing to volunteer to help with the annual meeting, bookstore sales and evaluation of contest entries would be very useful and helpful. If you would be willing to be called upon for occasional assistance with various Friends supported activities, please call the bookstore and leave your name on the "Please Call Volunteer List."

I remind all of you reading this to periodically check the Friends of the Library website. The website can be accessed by going to pueblolibrary.org and clicking on the Friends' logo at the bottom of the home page. Our website is expertly maintained by volunteer Don Pfost. Dates of sales and other current happenings plus information about FOL are posted on the site. Once on the site, please scroll down to a section entitled "Friend of the Year." Here you will find an explanation of the award as well as the criteria and a nomination form. The person selected as recipient of this award will be honored at the FOL annual meeting in April 2012. Please consider nominating your favorite volunteer. Nomination forms should be turned in or mailed to Books Again.

Friends of the Library Spotlight: Roy Miltner via Dewey Decimal

by Jeannine Semrau

The interests, studies and education of Roy Miltner are the sources of the development of the Books Again history section. Even though in the library one can always find things by the Dewey Decimal system, Miltner has gathered high-use topics in history so they are easier to find. Miltner was born in Pennsylvania and grew up in New Jersey. He received a degree in forestry (634.9) from Paul Smith's College in upper New York state. After working for two years as a land surveyor, he went back to college and seminary in Gettysburg, Penn. to become a Lutheran pastor (253) and study history (909). It is easy to see how he developed this passion for history!

Currently, he volunteers with Colorado Division of Wildlife, United Way (021.7), Friends of the Library, El Pueblo Museum, Curator of the Weisbrod Aircraft Museum (069), and is a board member of the Pueblo Medal of Honor Foundation and Pueblo City-County Library District. He works two days a week at Books Again, and three days a week at the Aircraft Museum.

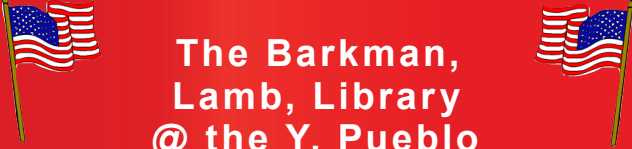

There is an extensive World History section which is of extreme interest to Miltner. This section covers the ancient to modern world (930-990). Also of interest are specific biographies of American presidents from Washington to Obama, as well as collected biographies of the presidents (920). Don't miss military uniforms (355.14). There is also a special section on American history (973) from 1492-present. But wait, there's more! There are special looks on the history of ethnic groups such as Native Americans (970), African Americans (973), Asian Americans (917) and Latino Americanos (973.046). Look for the Time Life series, for example, the '60s and the roaring '20s (973.9). Also, there is expansion of the West (973), the Louisiana Purchase (973.4), cowboys of the West and women in history (978.02). Come in today to find special eras in history such as the American Revolution, Civil War, World War I and World War II. Also available, books on famous battles of the Civil War (973.708), Guadalcanal (940.542), Bataan (940.54) and Guantanamo (909.831). Lots of history on the Holocaust (940.53) and its survivors (940.53). If you still want more, have you ever seen the book, Dr. Seuss Goes to War? It is an editorial of cartoons of Theodor Seuss Geisel. Oh, the things you can find in the Books Again history section! There is no mystery to available history, thanks to Roy Miltner. Three cheers for a Dewey Man for all reasons!
