Vehicle Purchase Request

This is a staff recommendation to purchase two vehicles:

1. Purchase of new midsize pickup truck for running security rounds to branches, staff travel to the Beulah satellite library, an extra vehicle needed for Facilities Department to service the branches, and other library use as needed. [Request for Bids #4-2023]
2. Purchase of a cargo van to replace the end of life 2008 Econoline van used for library programs, district support by Facilities & IT departments, and courier use. [Colorado State Purchasing Program – NASPO]

PCCLD CURRENT VEHICLES

2008 Ford Econoline Van – 127,632 miles

2010 Chevrolet Express Van - 71,180 miles

2018 Chevrolet Express Van - 64,764 miles

2020 4X4 Chevrolet Truck - 29,250 miles

Purchase of a Midsize Pickup

Request for Bids #4-2023 was posted on 2/1/23. Three bids were received.

A Chevrolet Colorado is recommended for purchase. I choose this truck for purchase as it had good rating in the independent vehicle comparison.

MOTORTREND magazine rates the Colorado #1 best midsize truck.

Car and Driver's top 3 rated vehicles are:

#1 - Honda Ridgeline at $39,435 which is $12,205 more than the Colorado

#2 - Jeep Gladiator at $38,765 which is $11,535 more than the Colorado

#3 - Chevrolet Colorado base price at $27,230

So I think the Colorado is the best buy for the money. We had $30,000 set aside and the Colorado will be just a little less than that.

The Best Midsize Pickup Trucks to Buy in 2022

News Reviews Buyer's Guide Watch Features The Future SEARCH

1. 2022 Chevrolet Colorado

After a slide to second earlier in 2021, the Chevrolet Colorado returns to the top spot as the best midsize truck you can buy. Its affordable entry price adds to the appeal, as does its real-truck towing figures, which helped vault it past the similarly smooth-driving Honda Ridgeline among truck buyers whose hearts are set on a midsize rig that must tow nearly as much as a full-size pickup. In reality, we think, the perception of towing capability pulls stronger than actual need—after all, if you're regularly towing anywhere near the Chevy's 7,700-pound maximum, you really should spring for a similarly priced full-size model such as the Silverado. We would like to utilize the Colorado State Purchasing Program to procure this vehicle. This includes using ColoradoBIDS and State Price Agreements, NASPO ValuePoint.

This means that we get discounted purchasing through this program. It takes several months to actually get the vehicle. The factory receives the orders together and they build all the government purchase vehicles at the same time. This offer is from Phil Long Chevrolet In Colorado Springs, CO
