FITTING YOURSELF

It is a hazardous undertaking. One per son in a hundred MIGHT hit it; the other ninety-nine WILL NOT. If the eyes are not alike one will be fitted and the other will not. If there is a weak muscle, a defective focus, or an affected nerve, you need a lens ground especially for these conditions. If one eye is weaker than the other, you need a different strength of lens for each eye. You need glasses that place the eyes in perfect harmony, and divide the work equally between the two. I can show you a dozen different lenses that you will say are all alike. One of them will do you good. All the others will do you harm. Do not take chances with your eyes.
