Kill-A-Watt and save

Electricity bills are rising. You can cut down on costs and find out which appliances are actually worth keeping plugged in by checking out a Kill A Watt® for free with your PCCLD library card. Simply plug the energy monitor into any appliance to assess its efficiency. The monitors are provided by Black Hills Energy and are available at all library locations. Check out one today! Go to <https://bit.ly/2ZCWUYO>

According to a news release from Black Hills Energy, "Our Ready Home Check monitor program is an easy way for our customers to understand how they use energy in their homes and how they can save," said Patti Olenick, energy efficiency coordinator for Black Hills Energy. "Plug any appliance into the Ready Home Check monitor (Kill-A-Watt) and discover just how much energy is being used when the appliance is in use and even when turned off."

"What you'll discover when you use a Ready Home Check monitor is that older appliances tend to use a lot more energy than most people realize," continued Olenick. "A newer model refrigerator, for example, costs about $60 a year to operate, whereas it cost $250 to run a refrigerator in the 1980s. The savings can quickly add up when armed with information available through Ready Home Check."
