LADIES' CIRCLE—The Ladies' Circle of the Pine Street M. E. church, will meet today at Mrs. K Ferguson's, 937 Spruce street

PICKANINNY SHOW—The ladies of the First Congregational church will give a Pickaninny minstrel show at the Woman's club rooms Friday and Saturday evening.

ARTISTS ENGAGED — Arrangements have been made with Joe Newman, the monologist and vocalist, to appear at one of the Sunday night concerts in the near future and also with the Denver Ladies' Quartette, composed of four favorite voices of the capital city.

LADIES DAY—Today is ladies day at the Rover club and the privileges of the club, including bowling, pool and billiards will be open to all lady visitors between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock p. m. Last Thursday a large party of the ladies enjoyed a visit to the club and some interesting games of bowling were had.

PREPARING PLANS—Plans of the new church to be erected by the Broadway Methodist church and congregation will be drawn by Architect Barber of Colorado Springs, who will shortly submit them to the church. Lots have been purchased at the corner of Routt and south Union avenue, measuring 100x190 feet. The Sunday school room and basement will be first constructed and the Main building will follow later. The entire cost will be approximately $20,000.

TO HER MOTHER—Amanda Fawcett, the 13-year-old girl who ran away from the home of Dr. W. H. Baker two weeks ago and who was found at Chico station is to be sent to her mother in Rich Hill, Mo. Mrs. Sperry, agent for the Colorado Humane society, who has the child in charge, has received word from the mother of the girl, Mrs. Griggs, who says that she never heard of the removal of the child from her aunt at Boone and has been in total ignorance of her fortunes for the past two years.

DEACONESS HOME—There is a probability that the Deaconess home at the corner of Mesa and Arroya avenue established nearly two years ago by Miss Finley, will shortly have hospital facilities added which will be under the auspices of the Methodist churches of the city. The board of managers at present have such plans under consideration. Miss Finley, founder of the home and until recently superintendent, has donated the property to the deaconesses and gone to Spokane, Wash. She resigned as superintendent on account of her health and is succeeded by Miss Blackburn of Chicago.

METEORIC SHOWER MAY COME TONIGHT

The time of the expected meteoric shower—every 33 years—is at hand and many Puebloans have been straining their eyes for some nights past in the hopes of viewing the great sensation. The panorama has been due now for two years. The preliminary signals have appeared all night but have so far proven false prophets. A few scattering leonids have appeared but the whole magnificance has not yet developed.

For centuries at periods about 33 years apart the earth has come in contact with the great body of shooting stars called leonids, which have produced the display. It is thought that the leonids are now approaching us and that the scattering displays so far marked the contact of the earth with the nearest of the scattering limits of the group. The meteoric shower is the grandest sight of the heavens and every Puebloan should watch the skies tonight and tomorrow night in anticipation of the great display.

Some astronomers fear that the usual November showers will be the last we shall have for a number of years and perhaps until a century or two have gone by.
