The Bohannons Drew Revolvers When Overtaken by Officers Two Miles Below Granite.—The Officers Had the Drop on Them and the Men were Made Prisoners—When They Reached Leadville the Crowd at the Depot Made a Rush.

Leadville, Colo., June 22.—Lee and Frank Bohannon, who escaped from the custody of the officers and shot and mortally wounded Deputy Fahey, were captured this afternoon below Granite by Deputy Sheriff McDonnell. The officer took the trail at 9 o'clock this morning, and about two miles below the town of Granite he caught sight of the desperadoes. Returning to Granite he secured the services of John Gilbert, a ranchman, and E. Shaul, a deputy, and the trio soon caught up to the Bohannon boys. When they saw the officers they made an attempt to draw their guns, but the officers had the drop, and they were quickly disarmed and shackled.

There was a very large crowd at the depot when the train arrived bringing in the prisoners. A large force of deputies and policemen were on hand, as there had been rumors of trouble. The two men were quickly hustled into a closed carriage, and none too quickly, for the crowd made a rush, and were only driven back after a sharp struggle.

The jail is closely guarded tonight.
