MRS. M. A. LEWIS.

Yesterday at 5 o'clock in the afternoon Mrs. Martha A. Lewis died at her home, 313 west Sixth street, after an illness of six days. Mrs. Lewis had not been well for a long time and for some weeks past her health has been gradually failing, but when the end came she passed peacefully and quietly to rest, surrounded by most of the members of her family. Mrs. Lewis had resided in Pueblo for more than thirty years, having been one of the pioneer women who came to Pueblo to make this her home. She was well known to all old timers and loved, respected and esteemed by all. Her husband has been dead a number of years, but she leaves a daughter, Mrs. John Moore, and four sons—John W. and William Lewis, of Pueblo, and James and Frank Lewis, of Gardner, N. M., to mourn her loss.

The funeral will occur Sunday at 2 o'clock p. m. from the late home of the deceased, 313 west Sixth street. The services will be conducted by Rev. O. P. Wright, pastor of the First Methodist church. Friends are invited to attend without further notice.

COLONEL JOHN WIGGINS.

Peacefully and quietly was the passing away of Colonel John Wiggins yesterday. With the weight of over four score years upon his shoulders, death had no terrors for him and he took up his journey to that bourne whence there is no returning with a calm smile lighting up his worn features. Truly will "rest in peace" be an appropriate epitaph for Colonel Wiggins for his life has been an eventful one. Fifty-one years ago, 1849, Colonel Wiggins went to California, the days of the gold excitement having just begun. He was associated for years with J. W. Mackay, Senator Fair, and many other old timers on the coast and he amassed a large amount of wealth. Misfortune came upon him however and his riches took wings a long time before his death.

He had lived in Pueblo nearly fourteen years and was known to all old timers. He was a native of New England and was exactly 84 years of age. Funeral services will be held Monday at the corner of Union avenue and D streets.

JAMES H. WOOD.

Funeral services of James H. Wood are to be held Sunday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ellen Wilson, No. 9 block S, at 10:30 a. m. Rev. William T. Patchell officiating. Mr. Wood died January 28, at the age of 28 years. He had been a resident of Pueblo nearly eight years and was widely known and respected. For a number of years Mr. Wood had been with the Artificial Ice company as a collector and was deemed worthy of every confidence by his
