DIED SUDDENLY.

Family of Joseph Gettler Find His Dead Body.

Joseph Gettler, a ranchman, aged 67 years, living seven miles from the city on the St. Charles, was found dead at his home early yesterday morning by his family on their return from watching the old year out. He had evidently been cutting wood as he was found on the wood pile and was still warm when the family reached him. Coroner Fugard drove out and viewed the body yesterday afternoon, deciding that no inquest would be necessary as it was evident the deceased had died of heart trouble. The funeral will be held today from the ranch, and the interment at Riverview.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP.

Twenty-Five Years' Constant Use