FUNERAL OF CAPTAIN HOBSON.

Services at the Family Home Yesterday Morning.

Captain William P. Hobson's remains were quietly laid to rest in the north side cemetery yesterday morning beside those of his mother, who died some years ago. The funeral services at the house were conducted by Rev. Thomas Stephenson of the Grand Avenue Baptist church at 10 o'clock, and were very impressive.

At the conclusion of the ceremony Upton post No. 8 of the G. A. R. took charge and the procession wended its way to the cemetery, where the usual G. A. R. burial was had, concluding with the sounding of "taps" by the bugler. Judge Andrew Royal, who served in Captain Hobson's company during the war, made a few well chosen eulogistic remarks on his dead comrade.

The pall-bearers were H. M. Morse, I. W. Stanton, I. V. Stamm, George Willauer, Charles W. Bowman and George Bell. The services were largely attended by the old residents of the city, which was a fitting tribute to the respect with which the deceased was held by the community. In addition to the preaching at the house Mrs. Inda Ward of B. F. Butler circle conducted the ceremony of laying the nation's flag on the breast of the dead soldier. Mr. Hobson's daughter arrived from Trinidad in time to attend the services, and a number of other relatives also gathered about the casket.

INTER HIM TENDERLY.
