Tonight will be a gala night at the Young Men's Christian association, it being the occasion of their opening reception in their new quarters. The association has during the last three months been undergoing extensive repairs. A second story has been added to the building and the original quarters entirely remodeled. Carpenters and painters have been busy during the past week adding finishing touches to the building and tonight the building will be thrown open to the public, both ladies and gentlemen. Elaborate preparations have been made for the evening's entertainment. Professor Kurtz' orchestra has been engaged and will discourse sweet music during the evening. The hours of the reception will be from 8 to 11 o'clock, so that everyone will be given an opportunity of seeing the entire building. The public is urged to attend, if only for a few minutes, to inspect one of the finest Young Men's Christian association equipments in the west.

The reception committee will be composed of Messrs. Graham, Crews, King, Crawford, Chapman, Price, McWilliams, Keating, Saxton, Payne, Clucas, Daniels, Downen, Hartman, representing the board of directors, and Messrs. Wolfe, Peterson, Cooper, Nyberg, Covington, Robb, Buell, Phillco, Jay, DeVore, representing the membership and Rev. Weaver, Patchell, Chase, Monks, Darsie, Warner, Wilson, Campbell, representing the ministers of the city. A number of the prominent society women, the wives of the directors, the wives of the pastors and the Ladies' auxiliary, together with 25 of the younger society crowd, will also act upon the Reception committee.

An address will be delivered by the state secretary of the Young Men's Christian associations of Colorado, W. M. Danner, of Denver, the subject of the discourse being 'Is the Young Man Safe." A free will offering will be taken by the Girls' aid for the furnishings of the rooms.

Business men and subscribers to the work throughout the city are especially invited to be present and to see to some degree at least how their money has been spent. It will also give the public an opportunity of meeting the new physical director of the association, Fred West, of Indianapolis, and parents the opportunity of meeting the new junior secretary, Charles Selden, formerly of Denver.
