Lawler Dies From Injury

As a result of injuries received in a runaway on the C street viaduct last Wednesday John Lawler, the grocer at 107 east C street, died at his home yesterday evening.

Lawler was driving a delivery wagon on the viaduct when a runaway horse collided with the vehicle he was in and caused him to be thrown to the pavement head foremost. He was taken to his rooms at 232½ south Union avenue and attended by Dr. George F. Williams. He never fully regained consciousness.

He suffered from a fractured skull and internal injuries and death was due to cerebral hemorrage it is said.

The remains are at McCarthy's undertaking parlors and the funeral announcement will be made later.
