performance. It was older, ted the seriousness of life. y of King Lear brought many of those present the of life.

tell himself is a disappoint- s friends. He fails to bring orcefulness of the bard of matters not whether William re wrote the lines or Bacon ible for the greatest in the nd tragic world. In "The of Venice" and in "King Mantell excelled anything s seen for some time, but those who have recollections hm Tree and Henry Irving. ell does not reach the stand- his efforts are worth the Pueblo is indebted to not Mantell but to Mr. Hall, of the Grand opera house, has elevated the stage in He has tried to bring to he best in theatricals and he all efforts when he brought ell to Pueblo.

ert Mantell the world owes a blo owes more than it paid But evidently it takes e for the seriousness of the to sink in. Really, it is nec- r the people to understand re before it can be appre- Nevertheless, it was expected high school students of the d be ready to receive the cause it is understood these have been preparing for wa. And this is where the tment lies. Mr. Hall did his bringing Mr. Mantell and re to Pueblo, but the peo- city failed to appreciate the terature.

re Hard Characters

Merrison and Archibald Beall, who, the police assert, are actors, were arrested late last at Avondale. The funerals of the little children were held yesterday at 2 o'clock and the interment was in Huerfano cemetery under the direction of McCarthy.

Mrs. Jennie S. Lockin Laid to Rest

Scores of friends, many of them friends of many years, gathered at the residence of John W. Lockin, 2411 Greenwood street, yesterday at 10 o'clock, when the impressive and beautiful Episcopal church service was read over the remains of the late Mrs. Jennie S. Lockin, a pioneer of this city, one greatly beloved by all who knew her and known far and wide for the many acts of charity and kindness extended by her to many in need. Rev. Thomas Casady, rector of the St. Peters' Episcopal church, conducted the services and the large home was filled with friends. Mrs. C. H. Bacon sang "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "Asleep in Jesus." The floral offerings attested the high esteem in which the deceased was held and the casket was almost hidden and flowers were banked high about the corner in which the casket rested. At the grave Rev. Casady officiated and all that was mortal of Mrs. Lockin was laid to rest. The pall bearers were: G. G. Withers, Dr. H. M. Thompson, James L. Lovera, Frank Kerr, L. C. Gann and Charles Black, and the flower bearers were the three little grandchildren of Mrs. Lockin, Marion, Dexter and Edward Brown. Interment was in the North Side cemetery under the direction of McCarthy.

MURDERED FOR MONEY

Negro Confesses to Brutal Killing of Christian Science Practitioner

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 11.—The con-of the prisoners wh and Duffey, the tw stole Dr. Heller's a

All women who the delegates to th F. W. C. southeaste day at 12:30 at the please obtain ticket Forrester.

A special invitati the C. F. W. C. to and the business m ture to be given Harbert Friday ev gress hotel. Mrs. H of the International Women and has Belgium where she gate to the interna

The Park Avenue hold an extra rehe on Thursday evenin are urged to be pre render J. Lincoln cantata, "The Star the Sunday night The rendition of t choir of fifty-five excel anything giv this, the largest Soloists for the ev Harper Gardner, Turner and Mr. Sy

Sanitary Laund

JUDGE KERR

Hon. N. Walter K With a We

Encour

Judge Kerr's hea warmed by the p subscriptions of th of Pueblo and for