wealthy woman, said neither she nor her son had been sick a day, and they met with but one mishap, a breakdown while going along the Nile. On reaching Pueblo the machine had covered approximately 37,000 miles. They will go east over the Santa Fe Trail, and expect to reach their home in New York on February 15. Every mile of their tour around the world will be covered in the car, except where compelled to take a steamer, and the journey has been a delightful and instructive one.
