

Library district awarded certificate of achievement for 17 years

PUEBLO, Colo. — Pueblo City-County Library District (PCCLD) earned honors from the Government Finance Officers Association for excellence in financial reporting for the 17th consecutive year.

“As a taxpayer-supported institution, we take seriously our obligation to manage resources with integrity and clarity, ensuring that the community can have confidence in how taxpayer dollars are used,” Sherri Baca, executive director of PCCLD said.

PCCLD’s finance department received the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting for its 2024 annual comprehensive financial report. The award is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting and its attainment represents a significant accomplishment by a government and its management.

“Maintaining this standard year after year requires extraordinary dedication and I am incredibly proud to be a part of an organization that makes a continuous effort to serve our community with the utmost integrity,” Chief Financial Officer Bri Reyes said.

Judged by an impartial panel, the report meets the high standards of the program, which includes demonstrating a constructive “spirit of full disclosure” to communicate the district’s financial story.

Baca continued, “Strong financial reporting is not only a reflection of sound fiscal practices—it supports our larger mission of delivering excellent library services, expanding access to information and meeting the evolving needs of the people we serve.”

Government Finance Officers Association advances excellence in government finance by providing best practices, professional development, resources and practical research for more than 22,000 members and the communities they serve.
