ANOTHER WELL KNOWN PUEBLOAN PASSES AWAY

Matthew McCabe, for many years a resident of Pueblo, died at 10 o'clock yesterday at St. Mary's hospital, where he had been a patient for several weeks. He had not been in good health for some time.

Mr. McCabe was 58 years of age at the time of his death. He was born in Ireland and came to America when about 13 years of age. In 1876 he arrived in Pueblo, and made this city his home for the greater part of the time since then. He was proprietor of the Victoria hotel and the Pueblo hotel, and for four years was connected with the police department. Three of his four years service was spent as city jailer. Mr. McCabe was a foreman of construction for the Denver & Rio Grande and helped to build that road into Salt Lake City. For several years he was roadmaster for the same company with headquarters at Leadville.

Mr. McCabe's wife died about three years ago. He is survived by six children as follows: Edward, who is employed in the county treasurer's office; Leo E., a clerk in the Pueblo postoffice; Raymond and Vincent, aged 13 and 11 years respectively, and two little daughters who are with relatives in Denver.

The remains will be taken to the home of Edward McCabe, 1044 Claremont, and the funeral will be held Monday morning from St. Patrick's church.
