PURELY ACCIDENTAL.

Coroner's Verdict in the Killing of Newton Alkire.

Coroner Gale held an inquest yesterday in the case of "Al" or Newton Alkire, who was fatally shot in front of the postoffice Friday evening last and died in ten minutes. After the examination of a number of witnesses, all the proceedings being held behind closed doors, the jury, consisting of P. O. Gaynor, N. B. Pierpont, A. J. Dutell, P. F. Lull, W. F. Wing and C. C. Robinson, brought in a verdict that Alkire came to his death "by a bullet from a pistol discharged by a person or persons to this jury unknown, and that said pistol was discharged without felonious intent."

Eugene Flohr, a Western Union messenger boy, who is charged with firing the fatal shot and is awaiting examination before Justice Low, was put on the stand. He admitted being at Second street at the time of the shooting but testimony given at the inquest showed that Flohr and several others had fired the 32 caliber revolver that caused Alkire's death. In whose hands the weapon was at the moment Alkire was shot was not developed.
