HUBBY BORROWS MONEY TO WED

MRS. M'CLUNG SAYS SHE HAD TO PAY FOR LICENSE TO MARRY HUSBAND

Alleging that she was cruelly deceived in her husband and that he grossly misrepresented his financial condition to her, Buena Vista McClung asked for and was given a divorce from Charles McClung by County Judge Frank G. Mirick in the county court yesterday.

Mrs. McClung, in her complaint filed November 17, just seventeen days after her marriage to the defendant, complains that McClung, whom she had known for a number of years, alleged that he had plenty of money and a good position. He stated that he had just received a large check from his employers, but that he did not want to cash it. Believing this story, Mrs. McClung advanced the money which went to pay for the marriage license and wedding fee. But when McClung asked for $25 more, that he might celebrate in proper manner his great happiness, she refused.

Mrs. McClung states that he then became abusive and after a quarrel lasting the entire day, he told her that he thought he was being mistreated, left the ranch upon which the plaintiff was then living, and nothing has been heard of him by Mrs. McClung since that time.

Service was had by publication and the defendant made no appearance in the suit. Plaintiff was restored to her maiden name.

MIKE, THE DUCK

"Punk as I feel I can knock the block off the fellow who wrote the verse about the beautiful snow
