TRINIDAD (C-SJ) — As of be without a chief administrator. But the Trinidad City Council Tuesday made tentative arrangement of Ben Veltri as city manager. A new permanent city manager Ivan Widom, who was fired from the council, will leave the position, remark was, "I did my best." Councilman Mickey Grieproached Veltri, who served as interim manager from 1973, two weeks ago about the position. The position was vacated by Widom.

Veltri agreed unofficially to serve as interim manager for a period of up to 90 days, pending approval of the councilman Ralph Gagliardi, who was fired from the council session. Rino and Gagliardi were dismissed.

In the meantime, several citizens are expected to accept applications and submit names as candidates for the city manager.
