HY SMITH LEFT HOME."

Smith Left Home" is one of erest farces upon the stage to- involves no shady characters ramatic personnel. It includes rsions into questionable flats or off color. The characterization lent—one new type bound to be ced time and again is the cook, who rejoices in the f Lavina, is a Holland dame retary of the Cook Ladies' Undemure French maid, pretty owledgeous, is a bit out of the , and Count Guggenheim who love with a woman he sees on et, is quite as wise as the chap ncess Aline," who chases a aph around the world. The , "John Smith," who finally ome, is a novelty in a way, for e central figure, yet is not the in the regular farce who goes lark, and then repents in three fact, this husband is good and wife. Grand opera house, one ight, Thursday, January 17. seats commences Wednesday ices—25c to $1.
