NEOUS.
acturing Comp'y.
, President;
Street. Chicago.
e and Stationary
S & BOILERS
LOUR MILLS,
Mill Furnishing,
P MILLS, CASTINGS
machinery got up to r. veling Agent for the ldress, Pacific House,
n26-6m
gresso
D HALL.
Kavanaugh & Decker's
CIGARS, Etc.,
, Proprietor.
ARLES
URANT
D
ERY,
House, Pueblo. bove place, I shall be
date all my old friends, nay come.
LL HOURS,
e best in the market,
onstantly on hand.
RY S. GILMAN.
ring Mills
nd now offer for sale at ice, EXTRA FAMILY
E FLOUR; also BOLThich we guarantee to be made in the States
rding to brand.
fect repair, and we feel ompete with us in qual-market price paid for & BAXTER,
EBLO, COLORADO,
SADDLES!
HART,
and Dealer in
SADDLES
BRIDLES, SPURS
, BRUSHES,
constantly on hand
and satisfaction gua
EBLO, COLORADO

of a new and brighter day.

Another of the pioneers of the plains is gone. Col. William Bent died at his residence on the La's Animas, in this county, on Wednesday, the 19th inst. He was one of a family famous in the annals of the West. The name of Bent is familiarly associated with the names of Carson, St. Vrain, Vasques and other prominent pioneers. Col. Bent has spent nearly forty years of his eventful life in the Rocky Mountain region. He had scarcely arrived at the age of manhood before his life of adventure began, and from that early period of his life until the present time his home has been in the far west. The fur trade, before the supply began to fall, was the especial attraction which kept him away from the haunts of civilized men. To the prosecution of that business he brought courage, untiring energy and a large degree of business sagacity. Bent's Fort, which has for a long time been a prominent point on the maps of the plains and a widely known rendezvous for trappers, traders and the motley population which throngs the frontiers, was erected by him in connection with his surviving associate, Col. Ceran St. Vrain. There, long before the first advancing wave of civilization began to roll in upon the country, Bent was accustomed to dispense to army officers and adventurous travelers such courtly hospitality as was strangely at variance with his wild and savage surroundings. He was one of a large family, all the members of which were of sterling and striking character. He was the brother of Charles Bent, the first Military Governor of New Mexico, after the conquest of that Territory, who was murdered in the insurrection of 1847. His name will be long identified with the settlement and development of a very large district of country now rapidly filling with a permanent population. His estate is variously estimated at from one hundred and fifty thousand to two hundred thousand dollars in value. We believe he was about fifty-nine years of age.

The fighting in Cuba is daily becoming more sanguinary. A New York dispatch, dated the 19th, gives an account of a terrible battle nine miles from Puerto announce our readiness to enlist u their banner. Let us have all ne and possible reforms without delay.

The Ashley-Case correspondence been extensively published throug the country since the appointme Jim Ashley as Governor of Mon To those who have read those lette may be needless to say that Ash character shines out with very cons ous blackness, and the Case seems to bad one. Mr. Case is neither so hardened, nor so hardened a Case, a to perceive the injury done to his reputation and fame by this juxta tion of a decent man's name with t Ashley. He accordingly writes t editor who had published the corres ence, as follows:

If you have occasion to recur to Ashl
"Dear Case" again, will you have the kind state that "Dear Case" did not carry out rangement made with Ashley? For which offence, and because he would not swea statement prepared by Mr. Ashley, he was out of office.

Mr. Case, who is an old and w citizen of our Territory, should hav benefit of this denial. Ashley shou condemned to bear alone the burd this infamy, as well as others, by parison with which, the rascality veloped in this noted correspondenc trivial. It may not be inappropri remark that the reticence of a larg tion of the Territorial press in reg this man Ashley is not creditable character for independence. This is sent to a neighboring Territo occupy a position of great respons His power for evil is much grea the public is left in ignorance character, than it will be if his is placed in its true light. In the est of the people of a neighborin ritory, as well as of good moral duty of placing James M. Ashley own colors, should be bravely and pendently performed.

Universal good feeling does not to prevail in government circl Washington. Senator Sumner, told, called to see the President days since, and on being inform Gen. Dent, the master of ceret that he would have to wait fifteen utes, left in a great rage, saying th White House was nothing but a n