GOVERNOR WILSON QUIET

Spends Day With Correspondence and Welcoming Few Visitors

Sea Grit, N. J., July 19.—Governor Wilson spent a quiet today at his summer home today most of it devoted to his corrospondence and to welcoming visitors who called to congratulate him. Among the latter was Augustus Thomas, the playwright. Mr. Thomas was the governor's guest at luncheon.

The governor said tonight that there was no political significance to be attached to the visits of his callers with the single exception of Chairman McCombs, of the national committee. He discussed very briefly with Chairman McCombs, he said the work of the campaign committee. Charles P. Taft, a brother of president, passed the governor's cottage in an automobile today, saluted the flag on the rifle range in front of the cottage, but did not stop.

the mountain air gets in its work. In addition Mr. Card is determined that everyone will be taken care of so far as seats are concerned, and extra coaches will be added as necessary. A number are expected from towns along the route.

The trip offers an unforgetable view on the top of the Rockies at a moderate cost. Everything—trees, grass, flowers, streams, is at its best now, and the assemblage of natural beauties at the La Veta passing will leave pictures that will stay with the tourist as pleasant memories for many days.
