OBITUARY.

W. C. BROOKS.

W. C. Brooks of Columbia, Mo., died in this city yesterday at the home of his brother, J. W. Brooks, 2427 Grand avenue. The deceased came here for his health last November. He was a brother of J. G. Brooks, county clerk of Park county, and father of Mrs. A. D. Homlin.

CENTRALLY LOCATED.

Last Thursday was moving day with Panebaker Brothers, of the Riverside Printing Co., and now they are comfortably settled at 217 north Union avenue, about half a block north of their former location, in the Kretschmer triangle.

The transfer was quickly made, and, notwithstanding the many disadvantages of moving, this firm turned out work on that day, and continued to do business and care for their patrons as if nothing had happened. While their location is slightly changed, they will retain the name of The Riverside Printing company, which is familiar to every resident of Pueblo.

With a firm determination to raise to a higher plane, by skill and artistic type arrangement, their motto, "We do the Best—What We Say We Do, We Do Do," this enterprising firm will march on to the success which they justly merit.

BROOM IS BETTER.

John D. Broom, who was brought down from Denver Friday night and placed in the Pueblo hospital, was well enough to be taken to the county jail yesterday. He is charged with ch-
