WORK ON RAILROAD—A large number of men formerly employed in the steel works here was yesterday morning shipped out by agents of the Santa Fe company to some point in Arizona, where the road is constructing an extension to the Prescott-Middleton branch. The men were shipped out with the understanding that they were to receive transportation to Pueblo as soon as the line was completed in Arizona, and it is thought that by that time the steel works will be in full operation and they will be able to resume their original jobs.

NEW RESERVOIRS — Work will be started this week on the first of the system of three reservoirs which are to be built by the Fountain Land and Irrigation company near Fountain, for the purpose of catching the flood waters of the Fountain river to irrigate 10,000 acres of arid land in that vicinity, which has been secured by the company. The first part of the ditch which is now being constructed is practically finished. Contractor Edward Honner of Pueblo has the contract on this part of the ditch, and has completed the work as far as the Skinner ranch near Fountain. All of the 10,000 acres of land under this ditch and sy tem of reservoirs will be planted with sugar beets.

KNOWN IN PUEBLO — Frank Waterman, the engineer on the ill-fated engine No. 5, which was wrecked and seriously injured the engineer in the disaster near East Paris, Mich., Saturday evening, was at one time a resident of Pueblo. Waterman was quite severely bruised about the head, and he is thought to have suffered internal injuries. His recovery is considered doubtful. George Herrington, manager of the Minnequa Town company, was at one time a resident of the vicinity where the wreck occurred, and is acquainted with several of the victims.
