The local press club will work together with the entertainment committee of the Denver Press club which will notify the Pueblo committee about those who are preparing to stop in this city.

Miniature Paper in Minnequa

"Minnequa" is the title of a bright four-page miniature newspaper just issued from the park bearing the same name, and is published by Paul Gayton, a well-known young man of the city.

The periodical contains the current programme of the theater and abounds with interesting gossip of the stage folk, and is a decided novelty in its line.

A feature in the first issue is the "funny-graphs" of a purely local nature contributed by Comedian Frink of the Minnequa Stock company, and if this class of matter is to be continued, it is quite safe to predict a "welcome in every home" for it.

Hat is Cause of Fierce Fight

Seeing a man wearing what he believed to be his hat which had been stolen from him about two weeks ago from his place of business at 140 south Santa Fe avenue, Angelo Francisco forcibly removed the "lid" and took possession of it last night. According to Francisco, the man who gave his name as R. Terral, followed him and slipping upon him in front of the Palace drug store, landed a vicious right swing on his jaw.

Francisco quickly responded with several blows and Terral was soon in a condition to demand attention from a physician. Both men were arrested, Francisco being released on a cash bond later in the evening.

Martin Jenson Dies Suddenly

Shortly after he had told his friends he was going to die, Martin Jenson, a bartender in the Wigwam saloon, was found dead in his room at 208 south Union avenue. The friend, Alex. Trifty, had gone in search of a physician after Jenson had said he was sick and upon returning to the room found Jenson dead.

The illness was so sudden as to cause the authorities to think Martin had committen suicide. Jenson is a well-known bartender of this city, having been in the city for some time and was formerly employed in the saloon of Hood Wright on south Union.

BUCKSHOT CHARGE CRASHES THROUGH WINDOW--TWO DEAD

Watertown, N. Y., May 10.—The crash of a charge of buckshot through a window upon a party of card players sent Jerry Apple weltering in his blood to the floor of his little cabin on Apple's island in Black lake, north of this city last night. As Apple fell, a son-in-law, Albert Crowder, jumped to his feet. The report of the shotgun again echoed through the woods and Crowder fell dead.

Mrs. Royal Dunning, Apple's daughter fled and escaped in spite of several charges aimed in her direction. She brought the news of the double tragedy to this city after a night of terrified flight through the woods.

On complaint her husband, Royal Dunning, with whom she had quarrelled has been arrested charged with murder. Dunning stoutly maintains his innocence.

FATHER IS CHARGED WITH BURNING FIVE CHILDREN

Montgomery, Ala., May 10.—Five children of James Kennedy, a well-known negro of this place, were burned to death tonight and two others so badly burned that they are not expected to live. Kennedy's wife alleges that her husband locked the children in the place and then set it on fire. The man and woman have been living apart and the question of the possession of the children was being fought out in the courts. Kennedy escaped.

Love Tragedy Enacted in Austria

Shoots Fiancee Then Kills Self

Bulapest, May 10.—A remarkable love tragedy occurred at Serenja as the sequel of a snapshot. Peter Begesh, a military inspector, had been out in the country taking photographs, and on his return called on his fiancee and gleefully told her he had discovered another romance in the village. He had seen a friend of his walking with his arm around the waist of a girl, and had snapshotted them as they went by.

He explained that he did not identify the girl, but that when he had developed the plate he would send it to her. His fiancee asked him to destroy the plate, as it might cause trouble, but Begesh replied that he could not miss such an excellent joke, and went home.

Later in the day he rushed back with a revolver in one hand and a photograph in the other. Before his fiancee could say a word he shot her through the heart. He then turned the weapon against himself and committed suicide. The photograph showed that his fiancee had taken advantage of his absence in the country to go out with a male friend.

CORPORATION CHAMPIONS ORGANIZE

Would Prevent All Further Drastic Legislation

Washington, May 10.—The prosperity movement, having for its object the re-establishment of confidence throughout the country, which has been inaugurated by the National Prosperity association of St. Louis, has reached Washington and a committee representing the organization will confer with President Roosevelt at the White house tomorrow relative to securing his endorsement of its plans.

The committee consists of F. C. Simmons, chairman; Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust company; J. E. Smith, president of the board of trade; Edward Devery, president of the chamber of commerce, and Murray Carleton, all of St. Louis.

The commitee claims that no less than 500 of the leading business concerns in the country have endorsed the purpose of the organization. The plan as told by Chairman Simmons is to organize prosperity organizations in all the commercial centers of the country through which to instill the feeling of restored confidence. One of the principal objects is to urge against further drastic or harsh legislation aimed at corporations for some time to come.

The committee will show the president a summary of the communications from numerous large business associations throughout the country that have expressed their approval of the idea inaugurated by the National Prosperity association. On Tuesday the committee will be entertained at luncheon by the chairman of the New York board of trade in New York, at which time plans for organization of a prosperity organization in that city will be discussed.

TENTATIVE ACCORD REACHED BY TAFT AT ISTHMUS

Panama, May 10.—Ever since his arrival here Secretary Taft has been busy holding conferences with President Amador, Foreign Secretary Alfaro, Senor Arango, Panama minister to the United States; Mr. Squiers, American minister to Panama and William Nelson Cromwell, the legal adviser of the Panama Canal company. The conferences were concluded today. They discussed numerous topics relating to the treaty which is in negotiation between Colombia, the United States and Panama.

While details are lacking, it is said, that a tentative accord has been reached upon important points and that decision with references to the others only awaits special inquiry now in progress. The result of the conferences, it is announced, is satisfactory to all parties concerned. Colombia's recent seizure of the town of Juarado, on the frontier, involved in the general boundary question between the two countries has been full considered.

The Panama government has agreed to the suggestion made by Mr. Taft to withhold all action until the secretary of war has had an opportunity personally to confer with the president and Secretary Root.

One of the most important questions affecting the canal zone has been to determine the titles of individual occupants of land in the zone and the value of the lands appropriated for canal use. No adjustment has been possible but a solution has been reached by which an arbitration tribunal will be instituted under the existing treaty. This tribunal will have the power to determine all questions as to valuations and legal titles. It will be composed of two citizens of the United States and two citizens of Panama with Governor Magoon of Cuba as umpire.

Secretary Taft expects to conclude his business relative to the canal administration and inspection tomorrow and will sail for the United States on Tuesday morning.

LINCOLN'S SUPERB FAITH

An Incident, Hitherto Unrecorded, of Lincoln's Trust in the Nation's Ultimate Victory.

Century.

As illustrative of Mr. Lincoln's superb faith, I will give an instance that I have never seen in print. In the largest room in the White house on the second floor, were gathered a number of officers of the army; then of prominence by reason of the commands that they held in the field; many civilians who held no office but who had come from the north to see Washington and pay their respects to Mr. Lincoln, and perhaps get contracts essential to running the government; and a few members of congress.

At first it appeared more like a large reception, where, after shaking hands, people stayed to chat with one another. Not far from Mr. Lincoln, a prominent senator, whom we may call Senator D——, in a strong, deep voice remarked: "I believe that, if we could only do right as a people, the Lord would help us and we should have a decided success in this terrible struggle." Mr. Lincoln, hearing the remark of the senator, with his clear, shrill enunciation, cried out: "My faith is greater than yours."

Everybody turned and looked at the president, who was head and shoulders

METHODISTS NEED INTENSITY SAYS GOVERNOR HANLY

Baltimore, May 10.—The feature of today among the delegates to the quadriennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church was a big temperance meeting at the Lyric at which Governor Frank Hanly of Indiana was the principal speaker. Among other things Governor Hanly said that what the Methodists of the present day need is intensity; that they are not as spiritual as in years gone by, and he declared that had they the spiritual intensity that marked the early days of the church, the whole country would become converted in less than a year.

At a labor memorial day meeting, held at the Grand opera house, Governor W. E. Hoch and Bishop John Hamilton of San Francisco were the leading speakers.

Bishops and prominent delegates to the conference preached from the pulpits of a large number of churches of various Protestant denominations today and tonight were listened to by large congregations.

During the week there will be considered the charges preferred by Rev. George A. Cooke of New York against Bishops David H. Moore of Portland, Ore.; Daniel A. Goodsell of Boston; William F. McDowell of Chicago, and Joseph F. Berry of Buffalo. Mr. Cooke charges all four of the bishops with mal-administration. The charges grew out of rulings on charges of which Rev. Mr. Cooke against prominent Methodists including Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley of New York, Chancellor James R. Day of Syracuse university, and Prof. Bowen of Boston university. The alleged mal-administration of the four bishops is said to lie in the fact that they did not rule correctly when charges against the men were laid before them.

NEW ENGLAND'S BIGGEST PIG

Boston Post.

There are pigs and pigs, and pigs may be pigs, but the pig which Charles H. Hambley of East Providence, farmer, philosopher and porcine psychologist, has just had gathered to his forefathers eclipses anything ever recorded in the annals of New England pigology.

Farmer Hambley's pig tipped the scales at just 1,043 pounds. That is more than many a good horse weighs.

It was eight feet long, not including the snout and the tail.

It took twenty-two tried and true men to assassinate it and load it into the wagon after the pig had expired. It required weeks of wearisome search before Hambley could secure a butcher who would take the job of killing the pig.

Twenty-five hundred people came to visit the farmer's pig pen and get a view of the mountain of pork before it was decided that the half-ton of porcine should shuffle off the mortal coil. The pig was nine feet around the girth.

When the pig was first killed the farmer was offered $90 for it as it lay. When dressed the offer rose to $135, but Hambley refused to sell. He says his prize is worth $200 easily, and he intends to keep it for home consumption in spite of the trouble it caused him to finally bring about the pig's end.

The hams weighed seventy-eight pounds apiece. Each of the backs tipped the scales at ninety pounds. The shoulders were forty-eight pounds
