House

311-313 So. Union Ave.
Corner Northern and Evans avenues.

Pioneer Will Be Laid to Rest Today

The funeral of John Donegan will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence, 274 block I, under the auspices of the Masons.

Mr. Donegan was born in Coburg, Canada in 1842, and came to Pueblo in 1866. In 1876 he was married at Ellsworth, Kas., to Miss Phillipina Kathe. He is survived by a widow and a daughter, Mrs. M. L. Kramer.

Mr. Donegan was one of the best-known and most successful railroad bridge builders in the west, and built the first bridges on many of the Denver and Rio Grande lines in Colorado, as well as on the Colorado and Southern.

Gave Pleasant Entertainment

Thirty ladies spent a very pleasant afternoon Saturday, at the home of Mrs. Fred Brown, 1901 Elizabeth street. Upon this occasion Mrs. Brown and Mrs. H. B. King entertained at a Kensington for Mrs. Della Morris and her friends, Mrs. Morris being a former resident of the city and now the teacher of domestic science in the north side schools.

The guests, while plying their needles, were entertained by an informal programme of music, consisting of vocal solos by Mrs. C. H. Bacon, Mrs. J. H. Voorhees and Mrs. J. D. Kellogg; a piano solo by Mrs. J. H. Jenkins, and a reading by Mrs. Fred Roof.

The afternoon was fittingly closed by a dainty tea. The guests were: Mesdames W. D. Brown, J. R. Wilson, J. D. King, J. H. Voorhees, H. P. Vories, E. E. Douglass, W. T. Kimmell, Fitzpatrick, Daniel Ward, Gorton Rushmer, E. Grimoldby, Geo. L. L. Gann, C. A. Sanderson, L. N. Hart, H. M. Morse, J. M. Douglass, C. H. Bacon, J. Wright,

The building is thoroughly equ
for prompt and efficient service, being so arranged that while inch of space is taken advanta ample space is provided for the

