Sudden Illness Causes Death

Overcome with an illness while working at the home of Dr. R. C. Robe, 115 east Orman avenue, yesterday afternoon, Miss Emma Duey, a seamstress, walked to a couch dropped in what appeared to be a swoon and before a physician could reach her life was extinct. The cause of death is said to have been heart trouble.

Miss Duey was working on some sewing in the Robe home and a few minutes before her sudden end told those in the house she was feeling ill. She was advised to walk to the lower floor and lie down on a couch until she felt better. Miss Duey continued working for a few moments longer until almost overcome and then started for the couch. When she reached it she collapsed.

The women in the house under the impression that she had fainted tried to revive her until the arrival of a physician who was summoned. Upon his arrival he pronounced her dead and said that life had been extinct for nearly half an hour.

Miss Duey resided at 121 Michigan avenue with her brother, C. E. Duey and is an old resident in Pueblo. She was 47 years of age and was well known in this city.

The remains are at West Brothers and Whiton's parlors and the funeral announcement will be made later.
