May we tell you quietly and frankly [illegible] you in all candor and sincerity without a word of sham or make bel[illegible] ordinary efforts in our city to create a stampede of the people toward dazzling offers of immensity for a mite has o[illegible] perfect faith in the honorable and soundly businesslike principles upon which the founders of this store started [illegible] years ago.

Flaming banners have always had and will always have a place in attracting the public attention and patronag[illegible] and places for startling promises carelessly kept but it never comes to stores that are permanent and that depend [illegible] the steady every day every year patronage of customers who have learned and are entirely sure that in good times [illegible] the coming and going of sensational enterprises as well as in the days when business is businesslike they may bu[illegible] store in absolute safety.

The good words we have received from our good patrons this week, their enthusiastic assurances of a rene[illegible] ciples and the conduct of this store, their thorough investigations of local supplies and prices and the large per [illegible] here has inspired us. We are repaid for persistent effort toward fairness and good faith with our patrons. We a[illegible] shall find a better store at Crews-Beggs with the passing of every month.

FTER SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR CHORUS CONCERT

ay a committee will begin can- ng the city with a view to secur- ubscriptions enough to guarantee ppearance of the Colorado chorus will go to the world's fair to com- for the $5,000 prize offered for the chorus in the United States. It be necessary to secure several red dollars before a concert by horus is assured, and it is thought this amount can be secured from music lovers of the city without ple, since the people of Denver sub- ed almost enough to take the large egation to St. Louis and back to ver.

vernor Peabody headed the list in ver and many of the most promi- citizens in the capital city are ng those who have made it pos- for a representative organization the state to take part in what be the greatest musical contest of kind ever known. The big chorus has been working hard all winter to get into the best possible condition, and critics who have heard the organization state that they are sure of one of the three big prizes offered.

It is but seldom that Pueblo has opportunity of hearing so large a chorus of trained voices and such eminent soloists as accompany the aggregation, and it is not thought that any difficulty will be experienced in raising funds enough to insure a concert here.

Charles M. Schwab, on the day he sailed for Europe on the Kronprinz Wilhelm, said that he believed America offered to workingmen more opportunities than any other country.

"The workingmen, though," he added, "must be of the right kind. He must not be like the Greek I heard of recently.

"This chap, having come to America, secured a good laboring job at $11 a week. But he did not get on well. He was continually afraid of doing more than he was paid for.

"They say that a gentleman, passing one day the new building the Greek was at work on, saw him lying on his stomach on the sidewalk. His face was pale, a succession of loud groans arose from him.

"'What is the matter with that fellow?' the gentleman said.

"An Irishman replied that he was sick.

"'Well,' said the gentleman, 'if he is sick, why doesn't he go to the hospital and get some relief?'

"The Irishman laughed scornfully.
