THREE INQUESTS.

Coroner Gale Impanels a Jury to Investigate the Alkire Killing.

With three inquests on his hands Coroner Gale is a very busy man. He impanelled a jury yesterday morning to investigate the death of Al Alkire, who was shot near the postoffice Friday night. An adjournment was then taken to Wednesday at 10 a. m.

The jury in the case of Charles M. Mead, who was found dead in the Rio Grande yards Thursday night, will continue the inquest at 9 o'clock this morning. Further inquiry into the killing of James Watt, a Rio Grande hostler who was crushed to death at the coal chutes Saturday morning will be made tomorrow at 1:30 p. m.
