"The way I figure is this," said Herndon today. "The odds don't count and the amount of money I put up can't count either because I've got to lose my life to lose the money. If I win it's just so much velvet.

"So here's $50,000, who wants it?"

GATTY AND POST OFF TO SIBERIA

Bremen at 3:40 p. m. (E. S. T.) yesterday, after a brief stop at Krefeld, Germany.

Utterly exhausted by their 32-hour flight from Harbor Grace, N. F., they spent the night at a hotel here and planned to make the 240-mile flight from Bremen to Copenhagen today.

At Roosevelt Field, N. Y., George Endresz and Sanador Magyar, who plan a flight to Budapest, Hungary, adjusted a defective fuel pump while awaiting word of good flying weather, while Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., who plan a world-girdling tour, said they probably would not get away before Saturday.

At the Teterboro airport, N. J., Russel Boardman and John L. Polando were supervising final adjustments to the motor of their plane in hope of moving it to the Floyd Bennett airport, N. Y., today with the view of a possible take-off by noon for a long distance flight into Europe.
