Library named finalist for national honor

The National Medal for Museum and Library Service is the nation's highest honor given to museums and libraries by the Institute of Museum and Library Services in recognition of exceptional service to the community and for making a difference in the lives of individuals, families, and communities. Pueblo City-County Library District is a finalist for the 2018 National Medal award.

This year's finalists include public libraries and library systems; a statewide digital library; art, science, and children's museums; and many other types of institutions that exemplify the great diversity of libraries and museums across the country.

This honor recognizes the contributions of our programs such as All Pueblo Reads to Pueblo. We are grateful for your continued support, and are honored to be recognized as a 2018 finalist.

"The 29 National Medal finalists showcase the tremendous ability of libraries and museums to serve as vital community resources," said IMLS Director Dr. Kathryn K. Matthew. "The Institute of Museum and Library Services is honored to recognize these leading institutions. We congratulate them on the work they are doing across the United States."

"Simply to be tabbed as a finalist for this distinguished award is an attribute only a relative handful of organizations will ever attain," says PCCLD's Executive Director Jon Walker.

National Medal winners will be announced this spring. Representatives from winning institutions will be honored for their extraordinary contributions

Thank you for making us America's best

Jon Walker

by Jon Walker

Thank you for supporting Pueblo City-County Library District.

Our community is known for many wonderful things. Steel, sunshine and sloppers are only a few of the items on this list. Now, we can put libraries there.

Public libraries have a storied history here. Our first public library dates from 1892. Local citizens have consistently supported the public library over the years. The message was clear for me when I first arrived in Pueblo in 2004. Community members let me know then their notion that the public library improves our local quality of life. I am pleased PCCLD has delivered on great library service.

The recent results in early March of the Engaging Local Government Leaders' (ELGL) competition confirms this. The ELGL recognition is a "people's choice" selection of PCCLD as America's Best Public Library (<http://elgl.org/2018/03/05/national-championship-williamsburg-v-pueblo-2/>). Support for our libraries during this competition was tremendous. In point of fact, the enthusiasm for libraries here is unequaled anywhere in the country.

This news followed soon after PCCLD's selection by Library Journal in December 2017 as a Four Star Library.

This is among the most prestigious recognitions attainable from peer librarians nationally. Library Journal made its determination based upon an index derived from a comparison of key library data. This ranking places PCCLD among the top 2.5 percent of the 7,409 U.S. public libraries that were ranked.

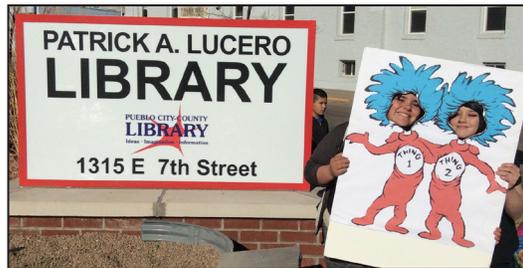

Then there is this. The Institute for Museum and Library Services (IMLS) announced on March 5 that PCCLD is a finalist for the National Medal for Museum and Library Service. This National Medal is our country's highest honor given to libraries for community service.

All this is testimony to our can do community and our can-do team at PCCLD. Pueblo Proud!

Special screenings

The Life and Times of Rosie the Riveter

Monday, April 23, 6:30-8:30 p.m., RA, InfoZone Theater-4th floor

The U.S. entry into World War II created an unprecedented demand for workers. Rosie the Riveter was born — the symbol of working women during World War II. The documentary follows the stories told by the women themselves — five former 'Rosies' who recall their histories working during the war. Their testimony is interwoven with archival recruitment films, stills, posters, ads and music from the period which contrast their experiences with the popular legend and mythology of Rosie the Riveter.

This film is shown in conjunction with the She's a WOW: Women Ordnance Workers in Pueblo, CO 1942-1945 exhibit on display in the Rawlings Library, InfoZone-4th floor March 29 - April 25. Appetizers provided.

Trustee talk: We won!

Lyndell Gairaud

by Lyndell Gairaud

Congratulations to the Pueblo City-County Library District for winning the Engaging Local Government Leaders Leslie B. Knope Best Library in America award.

We won because library patrons and Pueblo residents voted week by week and were joined by friends and library supporters from Colorado and states and countries far and wide, encouraged by our local and state government leaders, newspapers, TV news channels and our wonderful library staff.

What has this to do with the Board of Trustees you might ask? Our job description according to state library law is to fulfill, promote and perpetuate the mission of the organization. Our mission is to encourage the joy of reading, to support lifelong learning and to present access to information from around the world. And to have some fun. Okay, I added that last part but our libraries really know how to encourage fun. Check out our programs and you will find multiple opportunities to have a good time. With branches and satellite locations throughout Pueblo City and County no one is far from the Best Library in America!
