The future again

by Jon Walker

I am proud of our local libraries. This includes almost everything about them: the buildings, the study and meeting spaces, the books and other materials and the computers and learning tools. But mainly I am inspired by the people. Those who work here and those who use libraries: the women and men, the teens and tweens, the children and infants.

I have been part of the Pueblo City-County Library District for just over ten years now. Among my first tasks when I initially arrived back in 2004 was overseeing a study of our community and our libraries and creating a consensus long-range plan to move PCCLD forward. The goal was to provide the best possible public library service for our community.

In subsequent years, we focused on offering lifelong learning resources, access to information in all formats, well-equipped and maintained facilities, highly-trained employees and more. The result has been an explosion in library use here. In 2004, 877,299 people visited our libraries. 1,432,303 did so in 2014. In 2004, 35,162 people attended library programs and events. Participation in 2014 was 182,406. In 2004, 1,047,515 books and other materials were checked out from our libraries, 2,484,858 circulated in 2014. Our libraries have offered and our community has responded. I attribute our successes to many things, including determination and luck. To a major extent, however, our accomplishments are due to carefully considered planning, steadfast follow through and looking for every opportunity to move forward positively.

Our planning processes begin with methodical consideration of our community: who it is, what it wants and what it needs. We examine our resources, both realized and potential. We follow trends and standards in libraries and information science because it is important to ensure our community is well served according to contemporary criteria. We discuss these things and work with employees and stakeholders to reach agreement on what it is important for us to do. We keep in close touch with our constituencies watching for favorable opportunities. Then, we do it.

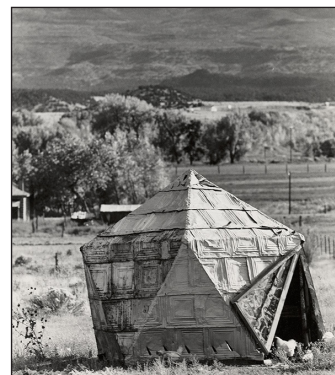

We are entering into a new planning period now. We are looking inward and outward with the intent to fashion a vision and a path to take PCCLD to new heights of accomplishment and service to our community. As we contemplate PCCLD's new strategic plan, we are interviewing individuals in our community, conducting surveys, reviewing our strengths and weaknesses and looking for favorable conditions to realize the finest libraries imaginable. Our community deserves it. We aim to deliver it.

Drop City Documentary
Thursday, May 7

community on the plains of Southern Colorado that blended practices of art, architecture, and resourceful living in ways that came to define a global counterculture.

The collection of material before receiving the grant.

The expanded book collection and audiobooks available for checkout from the second floor of Rawlings.

Winners of the Dr. Seuss Create Your Own Character Contest sponsored by the Friends of the Library. The awards ceremony was held in April at Rawlings.

Rawlings Library hosted a Poetry Slam in the Idea Factory on the 2nd floor in April. The program, a part of Adult Literacy, featured poets who spoke of loss, the difficulty of returning home, love, laughter and childhood. The event featured local poet Alysse Kathleen McCanna along with 12 other poets.

The American Dream Starts @your library

Book/ audio collection expands

The American Dream Starts @ your library and a grant from the Dollar General Literacy Foundation and American Library Association enabled PCCLD's Adult Literacy Program to expand its book collection and add audio packs allowing English Language Learners to practice their reading and listening skills.

These books, audiobooks and other materials are available in the Adult Literacy section at Rawlings Library and by request at any of PCCLD's eight locations.

May Maker-in-Residence: Sophia Healey

Studio hours and workshop: RA, Idea Factory-2nd floor. For more information or to register, contact David Hartkop at david.hartkop@pueblolibrary.org or 562-5637.

Sophia Healey is a local artist and crafter with a passion for all things made by hand. She works in many media including paint, ink, fiber and yarn. For this project, Sophia explores the relationship between mathematics and knitting and crocheting by using formulas to create patterns. The result of her work will be an installation in the Idea Factory.

Open studio hours

Saturday, May 9, 10-11:30 a.m.

Tuesday, May 19, 6-7:30 p.m.

Observe our maker-in-residence as she works on her project using mathematical formulas to make a knitted and crocheted installation.

Free workshop

Saturday, May 30, 10 a.m.-noon

Hands-on. Registration required. Sophia Healey will explain how she is using mathematical formulas to create patterns. Using both beginner and intermediate techniques, participants will make their own knitted and crocheted pieces.

Project Reveal

Friday, June 5, 5-8 p.m., Kadoya Gallery

Sophia's completed work will be on view during the First Friday Art Walk.

Get crafty

Friends of the Library president's corner

by Doreen Martinez

The Friends of the Library comes together each April for the Annual Dinner and Meeting. During this celebration, the "Friend of The Year" is announced and honored. This year, the Friends of the Library recognized Bud and Margaret Benz for their dedication to our organization.

Margaret and Bud were the founders of Books Again. Margaret (a Friends board member in 2005), encouraged the board to use vacant rented space (that had been used by PCCLD during the construction of the new Rawlings Library) for the store by sub-leasing it from the library district.

Margaret and Bud's vision of a used book store was that it would replace the annual book sale (held by the Friends at what is now the CSU-Pueblo campus) and would better serve the public, move more books and make more money.

Bud found used shelving for free all over Colorado by calling around to other libraries and found almost everything else the store needed to operate. The only equipment that was purchased was the cash register.

Without their drive, hard work and dedication the Friends would not have Books Again.

Thank you Bud and Margaret!

The Poetry Contest Award Ceremony will be held at 7 p.m., May 6 at the Rawlings Library in the Ryals Room. Books Again is holding a sale throughout the month of May on all hardback books whose author's last name begins with the letters "I, J, K" $2.

Friends of the Year, Bud and Margaret Benz.

As always, thank you for your support! Memberships are always available and make great birthday, Mother's Day and graduation gifts!
